War-Minister Provides First Class Sensation

HORE-BELISHA TENDERS HIS RESIGNATION

MacMillan Also Out of Cabinet

SPECIAL TO THE "TELEGRAPH"

LONDON, JAN. 5 (UP).—MR. LESLIE HORE-BELISHA HAS RESIGNED HIS OFFICE AS BRITISH MINISTER FOR WAR.

IT IS ANNOUNCED THAT HE WILL BE SUCCEDED BY MR. OLIVER STANLEY, FORMER PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD OF TRADE.

Mr. Hore-Belisha refused another post in the reconstructed Cabinet.

The resignation, which was entirely unexpected, came as a complete bombshell.

It is also announced that Lord Macmillan has resigned as head of the Ministry of Information.

Sir John Reith will succeed Lord Macmillan and Sir Andrew Rae Duncan replaces Mr. Stanley as President of the Board of Trade.

ELGIAN CABINET DESIGNS

ELS, Jan. 5 (Reuter).—A new Cabinet has been formed.

The retiring Prime Minister has been asked by King Leopold to form a new cabinet.

ECONOMIC WAR FRONT

Nazis Making Little Go A Long Way

LONDON, Jan. 5 (Reuter).—Field Marshal Hermann Goering's new appointment as the Nazi economic dictator occupied the forefront of British Press comment to-day.

The Nazi Government is worried by the problem of financing the war, says the "Times," and as the difficulties multiply and hardships on the people increase, blame is placed by one leader on another. Goering is to be made to decide between them.

It is fitting, the "Times" continues, that he who has so often boasted that Nazi Germany would not be much affected by the Allied blockade should now be charged with countering its inroads on Germany's commercial and economic vitality.

Special Difficulties

The next three months will present special difficulties for Nazi exchanges of goods with the Balkan states, which are now Berlin's best customers.

These goods, which include oil, timber, wood, copper, etc., usually come through the North Sea, but now that that has been closed, all traffic must be carried on the already over-worked railway system of Central Europe.

Goering, says the "Times," will tackle this with energy.

Newspaper's Warning

The "Manchester Guardian" warns readers against under-estimating German war economy, which the paper says, is successfully making a little go a long way.

The German Government will have to turn the screw still tighter on the German people, and no one is better fitted for the task than Goering.

German economy is not to be despised, says the "Manchester Guardian." It is built for war, while ours is not even entirely ready.

MR. HORE-BELISHA

COLONY'S RECORD RESERVE

Balance Of Assets Soars To $17,285,669

HONGKONG'S balance of assets over liabilities soared from $15,986,508 at the end of September to $17,285,669 at the end of October, despite war on two continents.

Revenue for October amounted to $4,179,810 and expenditure to $3,180,649, giving a credit balance for the month of $1,993,161.

In the face of war in Europe and China, the October revenue totalled as much as $1,000,175 in excess of the revenue for the corresponding period last year, and total revenue for the year up to the end of October amounted to $14,775,227, which was over $4,000,000 more than for 1939.

In his reply Mr. Chamberlain paid great tribute to Mr. Hore-Belisha's work in the War Office and to the important reforms he had accomplished.

"It is of great satisfaction to me that there is not now, and that there never has been, any difference between us in policy and in particular in the necessity for prosecuting the war with determination to a successful issue."

Conflict With "Bossa Hats"?

Mr. Hore-Belisha's methods and reforms in the War Office brought him into conflict long before the outbreak of war with the conservative army chiefs, who never forgave him for sweeping out the old "boss" hats and appointing more competent men in their places, regardless of seniority.

He jumped Vice-Admiral Gort, who commands the British Army, over many senior officers and also appointed younger officers to the Army Council.

It failed to democratise the army and established the rule at the outbreak of war that officers would be chosen from the ranks.

Mr. Hore-Belisha's resignation is regarded as the greatest political surprise in the war to date.

However, as the exchange of letters shows, there are no political differences between Mr. Bellish and Mr. Chamberlain.

It is therefore assumed that the War Minister did not see eye to eye with the Army chiefs.

It is understood that the post Mr. Bellish refused was the presidency of the Board of Trade, which is a post outside the War Cabinet.

Mr. Oliver Stanley, former President of the Board of Trade, now enters the Cabinet, but Sir John Reith and Sir Andrew Duncan have posts outside.

Mr. Hore-Belisha's methods and his aggressiveness in his methods and his political enemies.

At the end of 1939 Junior Ministers, led by Mr. R. H. Hudson, launched an unsuccessful campaign to oust him. His position, however, was generally considered strong, especially after his successful transportation of the British Expeditionary Force to France without a single casualty.

Lord McMillan's departure from the Ministry of Information was anticipated. He has been under a consistent fire of criticism.

The appointment of Sir John Reith in his stead has come as a surprise, inasmuch as it was widely expected that Sir Walter Monckton would succeed him.

Mr. Oliver Stanley's appointment as War Minister is also a surprise. PLEASE Turn To Page 4.

Warships Conclude Courtesy Visits

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 5 (Reuter).—H.M.S. "Achilles" concluded her two-day courtesy visit to-day and sailed from Buenos Aires this morning.

H.M.S. "Ajax" left Montevideo soon afterwards.

Famine Threat To Peasants On H.K. Border

SPECIAL TO THE "TELEGRAPH"

FAMINE is threatening the tens of thousands of peasants residing in the Hongkong border areas just vacated by the Japanese, according to reports received by the "Telegraph" from reliable sources.

This year's crops, both of rice and sugar-cane, are irreparably ruined.

The rice crops, which were planted before the second Japanese occupation, remained unharvested, while it is now too late to plant the sugar-cane crop.

The next planting season will commence in April.

But because the rich landowners who sought refuge in Hongkong before the Japanese invasion show no signs of returning, it is feared that the peasants will be unable to plant this year's crops.

In the past it has been usual for the landowners to advance the money necessary for planting and harvesting.

Practically the entire populace of the peninsula south of the West River are destitute and already living on the verge of starvation.

Most of the Chinese who returned to their native villages after the Japanese evacuation this week are already back in Hongkong, preferring to return to the British Colony, where they are at least assured of food. The majority simply crossed the border to salvage whatever of their belongings they could find.

It is stated that, in any case, it is impossible to reside in many of the villages because the wells have been polluted with heavy oil.

Guerrillas On Border

Chinese guerrillas have re-occupied Shum Chun and the Chinese portion of Shatutuk. Approximately 1,000 guerrillas are in Shum Chun and a small unit is in Shatutuk.

It is believed that the Chinese troops do not intend to remain in the border cities and will depart as soon as the new Magistrate of the Po On district recruits his local militia.

Poluk is entirely destroyed and Wangpunglin has been half-ruined.

Otherwise the border towns appear to be fairly intact.

The Japanese evacuated so hurriedly that they have abandoned all their field communications, which include an elaborate telephone system. An electric power plant, including two generators, has been abandoned in Shum Chun.

As far as can be ascertained, the Japanese have evacuated the entire area south of the West River with the exception of Taiping and Tungkoon, where nominal garrisons have been retained.

Some Details

So far as details are concerned, largest revenue increase was in duties, which jumped from $621,300 in October 1939 to $1,000,000 last October. The Kowloon-Canton Railways continued to show a loss, but was offset by an increase in Post Office revenue, which improved by close on $50,000. Land Sales also showed a slight increase, as did licences and internal revenue.

Largest increase among expenditures was Air Raid Precautions, which jumped from $4,749 in 1939 to $420,000. Beyond this there were no startling increases, although the Police Department, Charitable Services, C.S.O., and Harbour Department all required more money than a year previously. Public Works Extraordinary also advanced from $105,304 to $230,078.

Shot In The Stomach

Japanese Wounded By U.S. Guard

PEIPING, Jan. 6 (Reuter).—A uniformed Japanese, supposed to be intoxicated, last night climbed the wall of the quarter-master's compound of the American Embassy Guard and broke into the barracks creating a disturbance.

When challenged by the Guard, he refused to halt and was shot in the stomach.

The wounded man received immediate medical aid and was handed over to his authorities.

The affair is being investigated.

MILLIONS of these Japanese military banknotes which Chinese residing across the Hongkong frontier were forced to accept during the Japanese occupation are now, with the departure of the Japanese troops, valueless. They are issued in denominations ranging from 1 sen (less than one cent Hongkong currency) to one yen, and have been lavishly distributed.

Astonishing Russian Reverses Continue

SALLA CLAIMED IN FINN HANDS

LONDON, Jan. 5 (Reuter).—All reports from Finland indicate that the intensive fighting north of Salla on the central front promises to give the Finns another great victory.

Copenhagen reports state that the Soviets have been routed after two days of intense fighting, while the Danish paper, "Berlinske Tidende," says that the Finns have recaptured Salla itself.

In the south, the temperature is now 30 degrees below zero and attacks have stopped.

Soviet artillery is heavily shelling the Mannerheim Line.

Finns Still Advancing

LONDON, Jan. 5 (Reuter).—Finland troops have penetrated 10 to 15 miles into Russian territory in the direction of Ropala, according to the spokesman of the Finnish Legion in London.

He said that there has been fighting on Soviet soil for several days.

Fresh Russian Troops

SPECIAL TO THE "TELEGRAPH".—COPENHAGEN, Jan. 5 (UP).—The newspaper "Berlinske Tidende's" Stockholm correspondent reports the Russians brought up fresh troops to Salla from Kambalahti (presumably another version of Kandashkiya) but were unable to halt the Finns.

The number of killed and wounded, number of prisoners taken or the amount of war booty is not known as yet.

Damaged Warships

HELSINKI, Jan. 5 (Reuter).—A tallion message says that three Russian gun-boats arrived at Libau during the damaged Russian warship Kirov, which is so badly damaged by Finnish coastal batteries that she will be unable to sail under the Neutrality Act.

The Department added that since it is a violation of United States' Neutrality Law for an American vessel to enter an area of combat, the Department has requested the American Embassy in London to get in touch immediately with the master of the Moormann. In order to obtain a full statement of the circumstances of a preliminary to possible action.

The State Department note, which is dated December 14 and signed by Mr. Cordell Hull, pointed out that United States shipping companies are

BRITON ESCAPES ASSASSINATION

SHANGHAI, Jan. 6 (Reuter).—An unsuccessful attempt was made this morning to assassinate Mr. Godfrey Phillips, British Secretary General of the Shanghai Municipal Council.

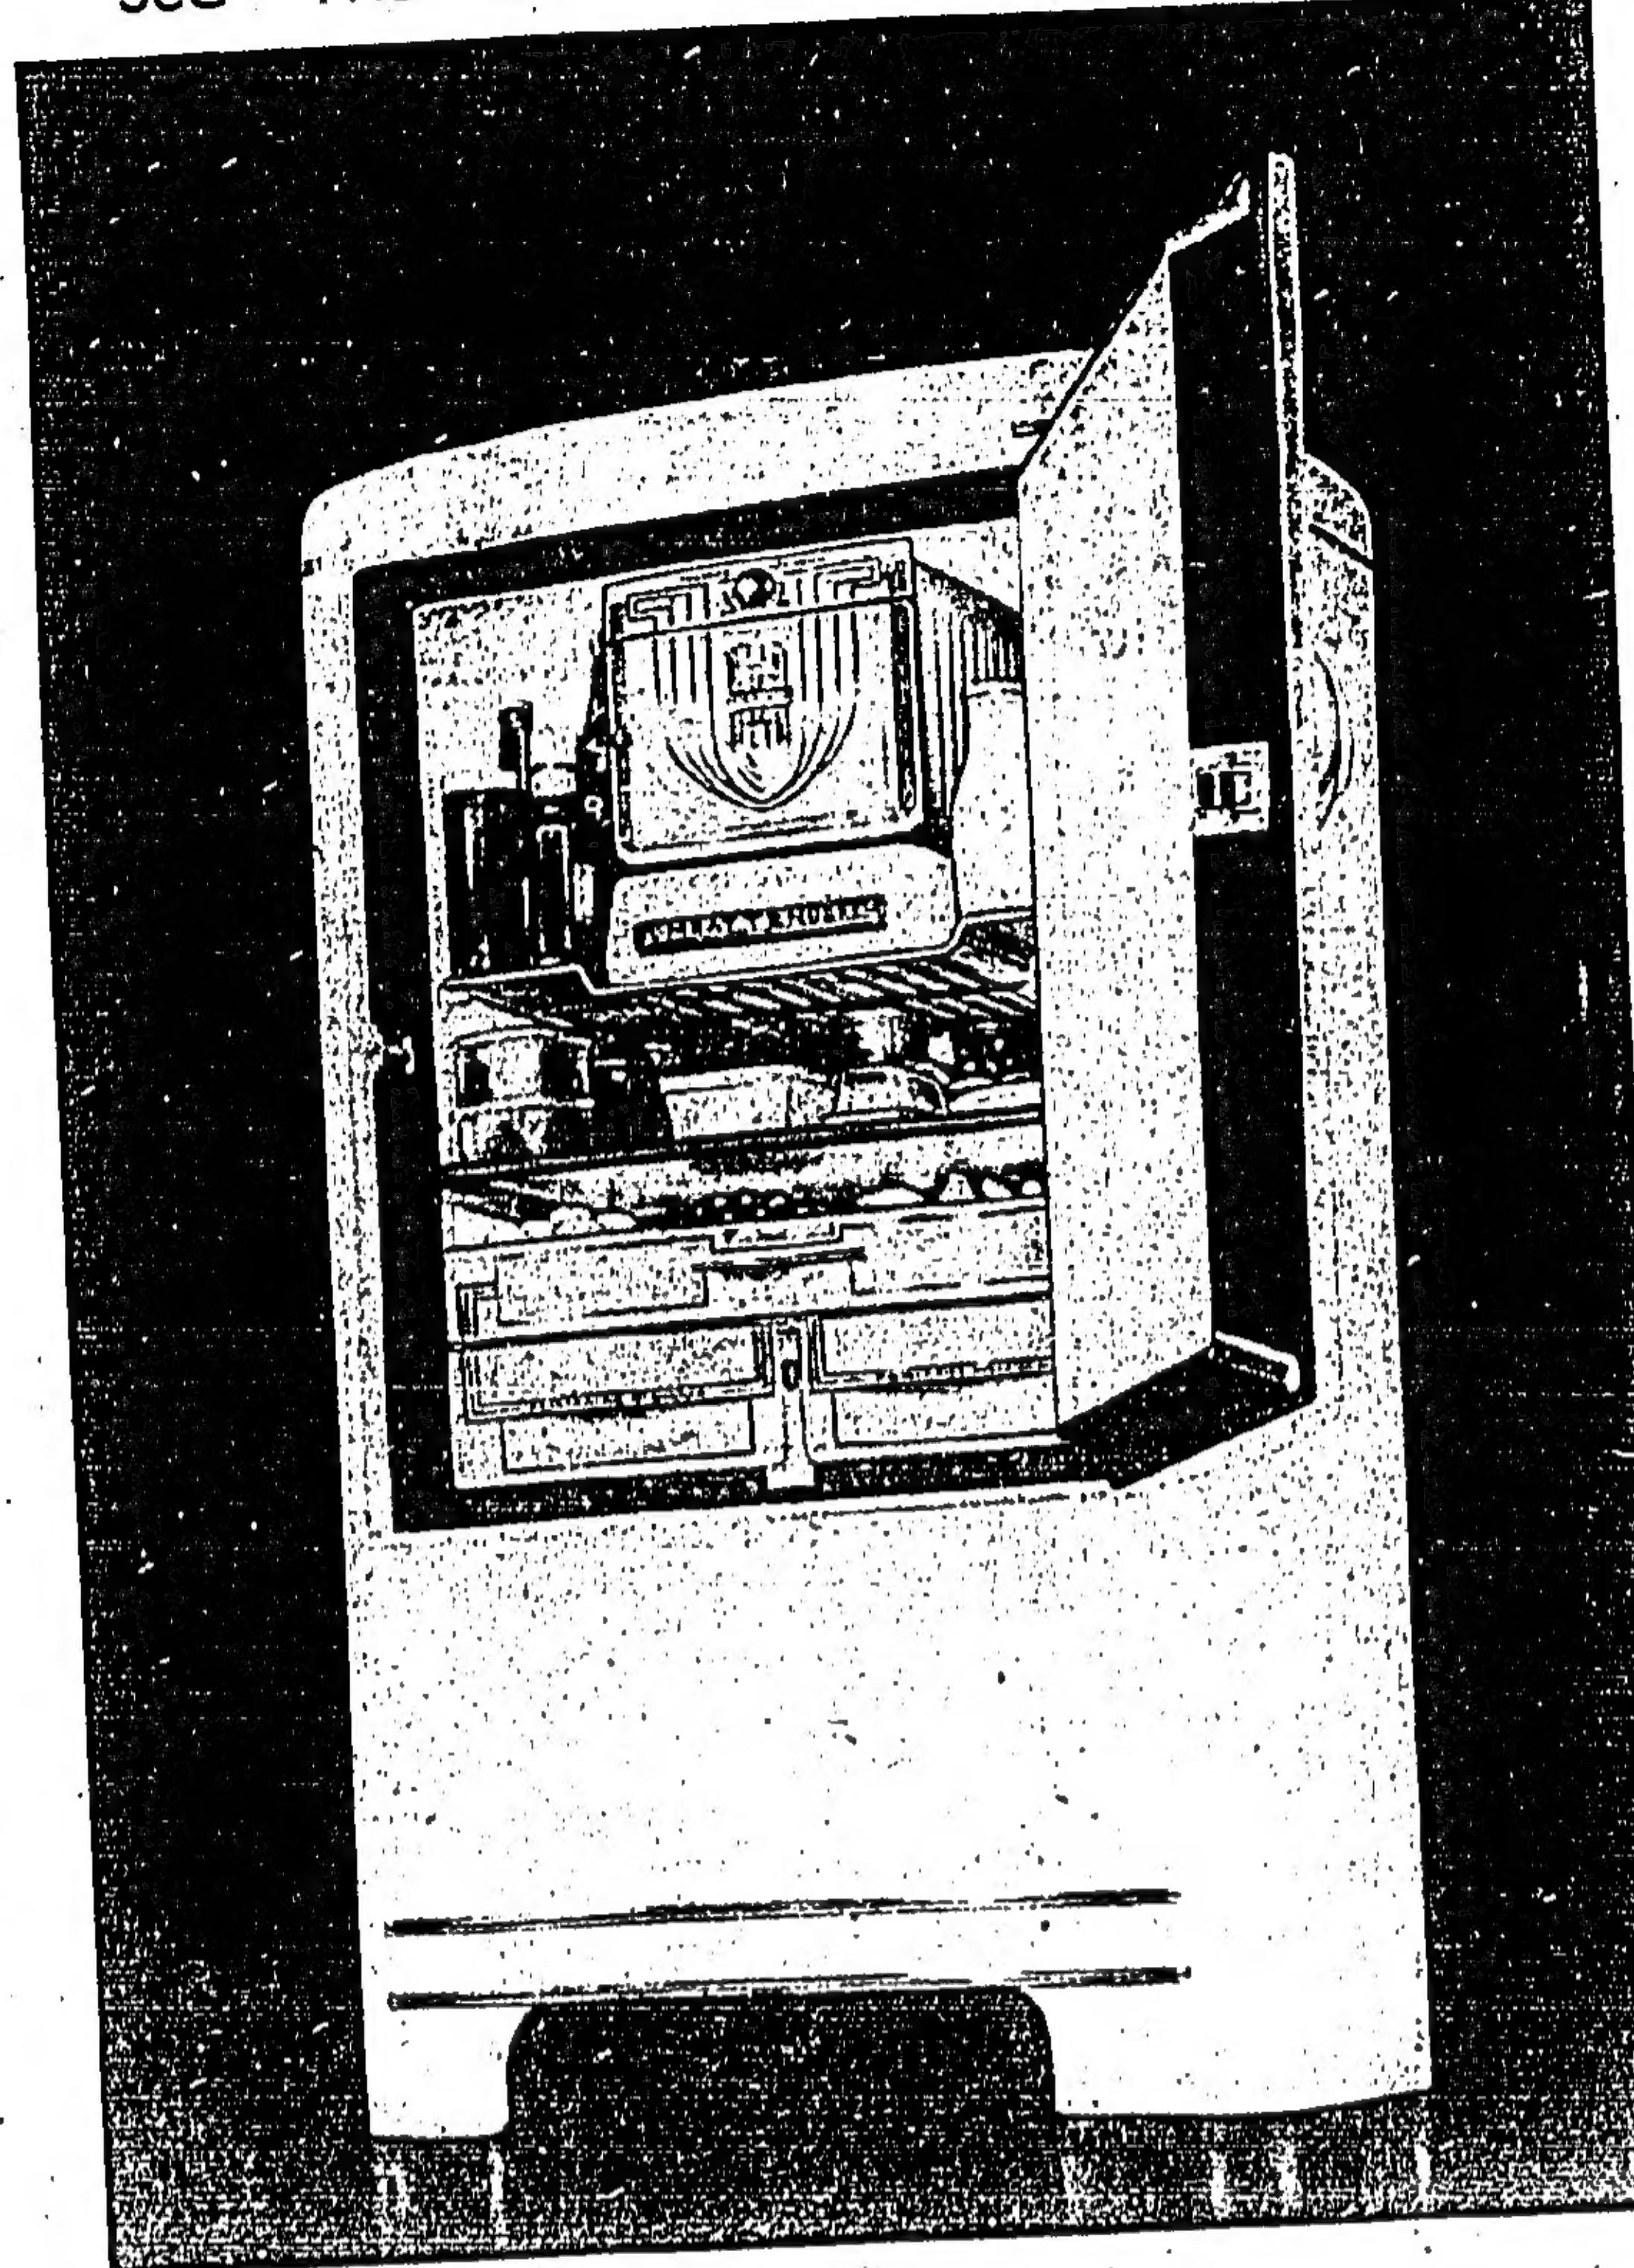

Mr. Phillips was driving to his office in his car shortly before 8 a.m. when two Chinese who were waiting in rickshaws on the side of the road opened fire.

The bullets went wide and nobody was hurt. The assailants escaped.

QUEEN'S

TWO SALADS A DAY AND NO WORRIES ABOUT RATIONING

London, Dec. 17. THERE is at least one man in London who will not be worried by wartime rationing. Shortage of meat and other foodstuffs will leave him quite unconcerned.

He is Sir Lancelot Elphinstone, who prides himself upon his physical fitness. In his own words, "I can walk 20 miles before luncheon with perfect ease, and sometimes I walk as much as 30 miles in a day."

That from a man long past the age of athletic prime isn't so bad. And Sir Lancelot should know what he is talking about—he's spent a lifetime measuring his words in precise terminology, as might be expected from a legal authority of his standing.

Former Chief Justice of Federated Malay States, Attorney-General of British Honduras, Tanganyika Territory and Ceylon, and Solicitor-General of Trinidad, he has obviously had a wide experience of the ways of men, and gained an extensive knowledge of what does and does not make for fitness.

Ban On Breakfasts
It was breakfast time when I called on him at his flat in London. But he was not eating breakfast. He never does.

Having dined in many parts of the globe, Sir Lancelot enjoyed something like an epicurean's palate, without any prejudice in the matter of meals, as befits one whose early tastes were developed in Elton's tuck-shop. Then, when well in middle age, he made a complete change in his diet.

"I was living in Ceylon at the time," he told me, "and was much troubled with rheumatism, so much so that I was only able to work with liberal doses of aspirin. A niece who came to stay with my wife and myself, having cured herself of rheumatism, induced me to alter my meals.

Joy Of Life
"At first I adopted a very restricted diet, eating nothing but fresh fruit, salads, dried fruit, and a few nuts. I grew very weak and depressed, and had it not been for the chaff of my friends, I think I would have abandoned the fight."

"Eventually, I attained a state of general good health, better than I ever enjoyed before, even in boyhood. Now I find that my 'joy of life' and physical and mental activity have greatly increased."

"I derive much benefit from walking. I usually do my long walks fasting, except for a cup of coffee before starting."

Sir Lancelot confines himself to two solid meals a day, his menus being as follows:

Early morning: tea without milk; coffee and milk at 8.30 a.m.
Luncheon: a salad, stewed fruit, and an apple.

Evening meal: a large salad, cheese, toast, a little crispbread, butter, honey, dried fruit or a slice of cake.

"When at home in the country," he added, "I usually have cooked vegetables for dinner, but I prefer nearly all vegetables raw."

"Cabbage, for instance, when cooked, is usually a tasteless, soggy mess. But raw, it is delicious, having a delicate nutty flavour."

Gland Treatment For Nazi Troops

GOERING is going to put a "kick" into his soldiers. Instead of a rum ration, they are going to have a gland injection.

Dr. Kurt Weitsheim, a German scientist now exiled in this country, told the "Sunday Chronicle" that for some time all German bio-chemists and laboratories have been ordered to create reservoirs of glandular extracts, obtained from apes, rabbits and cattle.

"Scientific experiments were made and records kept of the effects of injections on German workmen, soldiers and athletes," he said.

"Reports were also secured from this country. Certain greyhounds were inoculated before racing. So were racing pigeons. The treatment of Wolverhampton Wanderers and Portsmouth, in the Cup Final this year, was also carefully noted."

"A new system of hormone therapy has now been devised for use with German soldiers. It can be administered as long as a week in advance and brought into immediate action by swallowing a special lozenge."

"Goering has given orders that the lozenge is to take the place of their rum ration immediately before going 'over the top.'

NEW DRESS FOR ARMY

NEW dress regulations, announced by the War Office, will make officers even less conspicuous than they were at the end of the last war, behind the lines as well as in action.

Officers used to wear ordinary webbing equipment, not the Sam Browne belt, in the trenches, but in the front line they will wear exactly the same battle dress, made of the same material, as other ranks, with their rank badge in worsted embroidery, not bright metal, on their shoulders.

Even "generals" will wear battle dress, without red tabs, or "scarlet gorget patches" as they are officially known.

"SPOTTING" COMMANDERS

The only conspicuous mark will be for commanders of formations, that is to say, brigades and divisions, who will wear a sort of scarlet "bobble" about the size and shape of half a walnut, on each point of the collar of their battle dress blouses. And all officers will wear either the steel helmet or the same type of cap as other ranks.

In service dress, as distinct from battle dress, officers will be far less conspicuous than previously.

For the Sam Browne belt, as we know it, is virtually abolished; it will be worn as a belt alone, without the sword-frog over the left hip or the leather brace-plate over the right shoulder.

Moreover there is a voluntary alternative even to the plain leather belt. A belt of khaki cloth, two inches broad, may be worn by any officer.

NEW BELT ON SHOW

The new belt was on show to-day at the War Office.

It has a plain brass buckle, but is really fastened by a concealed press-stud.

Also on view were the scarlet bosses for generals' battle dress; they are built up out of concentric rings of scarlet cord.

The new Sam Browne belt regulations are expected to be popular, because the frog and brace got in the way of the regulation gas mask and its sling.

FULL STORY (TOLD FOR THE FIRST TIME) OF THE GRAF SPEE'S DEPREDATIONS

By RICARDO DIAZ HERRERO

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

MONTEVIDEO, URUGUAY, (UP—BY AIR MAIL).—THE STORY OF THE GERMAN POCKET BATTLESHIP ADMIRAL GRAF SPEE'S LONG PROWL OVER THE SOUTH ATLANTIC AS A SEA RAIDER WAS TOLD—BY THE 61 BRITISH MERCHANTMAN OFFICERS AND MEN OF THE NINE SHIPS SHE HAD SUNK.

Assembled at the British Consulate after their release from the Graf Spee, the Britons told a story of a gallant foe whose captain once said of his captures:

"I am proud to say that not a single British life has been lost."

Warship's Technique

The Graf Spee would overtake a British merchantman and wireless it not to use its radio. It would come up and a prize crew would board the prey. If the ships were near land, the crew would be given the choice of rowing ashore in their lifeboats or boarding the Graf Spee.

Sometimes a few well placed bombs would sink the British ships at once; at times one of the ships would trail the Graf Spee for a week or so, perhaps taking aboard prisoners from another victim.

The British sailors said that they were treated well, fed well, housed well. One laughingly called attention to his suit. He had been wearing tropical weight clothes when his ship was sunk. The German ship's tailor, by the captain's order, made him a suit when the weather turned cold.

There was just one thing the Britons could not tell about their voyage. When the Graf Spee began to fight the British cruisers which drove it into port, the door of the big single room in which they were kept was bolted on them.

One small shell from a British cruiser smashed through a steel wall into their room but caused no causal-

Skipper's Dry Comment

"I never thought I'd get a bit of old England right in a German battleship," commented Capt. Charles Pottinger, master of the Ashley, second of the Graf's victims.

The men had known that their own ships were trying to send them with the Germans, to the bottom of the sea. The first they knew of the outcome of the long fight was when, after the Gra put into Montevideo, one of the Graf Spee seaman commented:

"You've been our prisoners. Now I guess we'll be yours."

The prisoners were released after signing a pledge not to go to sea again during the war. To do so now would mean that they would be liable to execution if captured by the Germans again.

An Uruguayan tug took off the prisoners. Officers of the Graf Spee saluted them as they left and called: "Good bye!"

As they landed, the younger ones among the prisoners, capering on the dock, laughed and shouted at the smiling people who watched them. Uruguayan marines formed a guard of honour.

Bronzed And In Good Health

The Britons were in good health. They were mostly unshaven and tanned, but they were bronzed and fit looking. Most of them had lost all their possessions. One wore high sea boots and a pair of shorts.

Taken to the naval prefecture, the prisoners were formally handed over to the German naval attaché and the commander of the Graf Spee, both in full dress uniform.

British Consul attaches took the prisoners over from the Uruguayan prefect and took them to the British Consulate to talk. They had not eaten in the excitement of the fight since the day before.

The Graf Spee sank the steamship Clement Oct. 2. It sank eight more, compelling all provisions in each instance.

The Britons said the food had been plain but ample. They were frequently allowed on decks and never more than two sentries guarded the big room where all were kept, officers and men.

How Ashley Was Sunk

Capt. Pottinger of the Ashley said: "It was 8:30 a.m. Oct. 7 when I saw a cruiser coming up across our bows. She flew no ensign but I thought she was a Frenchman. She came heading on for us and finally when she came alongside she hoisted the German ensign. I saw then she was a pocket battleship and not a cruiser. She put up flag signals:

"Don't use your radio!" "They sent over a boarding party. Its commander gave me 10 minutes to get my men off in lifeboats.

"The Graf had previously captured the Newton Beech and had kept her nearby. We were transferred to the Newton Beech. Then the Germans took off our provisions and set bombs aboard and the Ashley blew up. It took only five minutes for the explosion but it was nearly an hour before she sank. We were treated fine aboard the Spee."

Played Rummy

"Mostly we prisoners played rummy, and sat around and smoked. The Germans let us keep our money when we were captured and allowed us to buy cigarettes from their stores."

Capt. Patrick Gerald Gordon Dove of the 750-ton Afric Shell told his story of the fight.

"When the battle started they took off our guns and bolted the door. We didn't know what we were in or what was happening until we heard the Graf Spee's guns and felt the impact of British shells. It was a funny feeling. We wanted the Graf sunk but we couldn't help wondering what would happen to us if she was."

Dove, big and jovial, has a wife and a son who is going to be a sailor. "Do you still think your son ought to be a sailor?" I asked.

"I guess he'd better go to sea like his father," said Dove.

"The Huntsman's Fate

Alfred Holt Thompson, chief officer of the Huntsman, fourth of the Graf's prey, said:

"It was 6 p.m. Oct. 10 when we sighted a warship coming toward us. We were 800 miles off Africa. We saw no flag but we wirelessed that a cruiser was approaching us."

"The cruiser came alongside and valued the German flag. She signalled:

"You must not use your radio!"

"She sent a boarding party aboard and we were told that since we had already wirelessed our help, we would have to stay in our boat and accompany the Graf. We trailed her for a week with a prize crew aboard in order to hide our location. Then the prize crew took us off and set bombs to sink the Huntsman. But first the Graf took aboard all our provisions."

When you buy a motion picture projector, seek the best and most lastingly fine performance that your money will buy. Good performances in a few of the more obvious respects is not sufficient in itself. Permanent satisfaction can be given only by a projector which performs, and will continue to perform, superbly in every respect.

What are the performance requirements? Some will occur to you instantly... but perhaps not all. So we present, for your guidance, this list of prime requirements, all of which we and a host of users believe are best met by Filmo.

1. Uniformly Brilliant Pictures... ample illumination for your requirements, evenly distributed over the screen.

2. Flickerless Pictures... for flicker tires the eyes.

3. Steady Pictures... because pictures which jump on the screen cause eye-fatigue.

4. Sharply Focused Pictures... Beauty and detail are lost, and eyes are strained, unless pictures are sharp.

5. Uninterrupted Programs... Delays are annoying, poor showmanship.

6. Complete Film Protection... Probably most of your films could never be replaced.

7. Ease of Operation... Showing movies should be a pleasure.

8. Ease of Maintenance... so that you'll keep it performing like new.

9. Long Life... Filmo quality pays in dollars and in constant dependability.

JOHANNESBURG, Jan. 5 (Reuter).—The New Year has brought an intensification of Police action against enemy sympathisers in South Africa, and investigations of their activities are being extended to the most remote areas.

Over 1,000 are now interned. Recent arrests include many Union nationalists holding responsible positions. Among the latter are lecturers on Afrikaans at the universities of Bloemfontein and Stellenbosch, a senior engineer of the State Railways and the Afrikaans announcer of the South African Broadcasting Corporation.

Turkey's "City Of The Dead"

ANKARA, Jan. 5 (Reuter).—Turkey had more earthquake shocks this morning, but they were comparatively slight and no further damage was caused.

They were felt over a wide area from Smyrna on the Aegean Sea to Karsusin, 500 to 800 miles away on the Black Sea coast.

Horrible Convicts

The Turkish Government is expected to remit the sentences of 50

convicts who were in the earthquake

When the goal collapsed, the convicts made their way out of the

HITLER'S DRAMATIC PEACE AIDS ARE REVEALED

PARIS, Dec. 15 (UP).—Secret instructions purported to have been sent to Nazi orators through Germany were published by the newspaper "Paris Soir," disclosing Adolf Hitler's official peace aims contemplated inclusion within the Reich of all territory from the mouth of the Danube river to northern France—with virtual annexation of Holland, Belgium, Rumania and Serbia.

The newspaper claimed to have obtained the document from the "frontier of Germany." It consisted of a long letter intended as instructions to all National Socialist orators and to all Storm Troop leaders.

The document was signed by Johannes Hering, chairman of the propaganda committee of the Nazi party and the Foreign Office, although it was regarded here as a mere reflection of definite objectives announced by Hitler after the last Nazi Grand Council meeting.

England Accused

The first paragraph charged England always tries to "starve the German people," and therefore Germany must insure itself of sufficient arable land to cope with any foreign blockade. In future war, it said, no adversary of the Reich will ever be able to starve the German people.

"It will be possible to acquire a stranglehold on the economic and natural resources of Holland, Belgium and northern France," the purported document added, "such as has been possible to obtain in Poland, where, thanks to the military genius of the Fuehrer, the Reich controls the coal and mineral wealth and some of the oil deposits of the nation.

"It is obvious that if Germany does not conclude this war with increased territory she will not be able to resist even the encroachments of Russia."

Must Be Relentless

"We must never permit our annexed peoples to retain any cultural autonomy if we want to obliterate from them their ideas of revenge. We must, moreover, as conquerors, be as relentless as we are with regard to sentiment toward our vanquished peoples."

The document informed Nazi orators their audiences must be told the Reich within the next fifty years must comprise 100,000,000 persons of pure Germanic race.

It observed that linguistic and ethnical frontiers must be established toward the west, south and east, and that 1914 frontiers must be resumed, including Austria-Hungary and Alsace-Lorraine.

It goes without saying that the champions of such a policy must concede the whole plan will fail unless Germany is definitely assured of

Is The Bomber Beaten?

THE four outstanding lessons of the air war so far are not very encouraging for Germany if she should be planning heavier raids.

According to the air correspondent of the British United Press they are:

(1) The fighter is definitely master of the bomber. Encounters between matched forces of bombers and fighters end in the loss of anything from 40 to 100 per cent. of the bomber unit's strength.

(2) To make sure of hitting his objective the bomber must attack in daylight and at a very low altitude. In other words, the pilot must take his life in his hands.

(3) Defensive anti-aircraft fire against bombers, even at considerable heights, can be so good as to render massed bombing in daylight and in conditions of moderate visibility at night a suicidal affair.

(4) Anti-aircraft fire by "pom-pom" gun from battleships seems sufficient to keep any aircraft from reaching the one point above a ship from which it must release its bombs if it is to hit the target.

territorial annexation of the Danube Delta and all the basin up to Mount Lovcen, in Montenegro of the former territory of Serbia, and also Rumania as it exists to-day, to assure the strategic and commercial future of Germany.

Moreover, if we are not assured of the Flemish coasts, with their naval bases, England will again send its fleet after the signing of a peace treaty and paralyze our navigation.

SPOTLIGHT ON GERMANY

Death Sentence More Frequent

Death is becoming an increasingly common penalty for petty theft in Germany. Four more sentences were passed last week.

At Munich a Nazi special court ordered two youths to pay the supreme penalty. They had stolen meat from a butcher's cupboard. At Augsburg the same sentence was passed on two 19-year-old youths. Their offence was "robbing front-line soldier."

Football "Storm Troops"

Nazi threats to Rumania coincide rather unfortunately with the visit there this week-end of Herr von Tschammer und Osten, Reich Sports Leader. He has taken a football team which will play a Rumanian side.

Herr von Tschammer und Osten doubtless hopes that his hosts have forgotten some statements he once made about sport and war.

"A football team in action," he said, "can be accurately compared with an infantry storming party, and the one activity is good preparation for the other. The goal of all physical training was and always will be military defence."

For organising such training throughout the Reich Hitler pays his Sports Leader £1,500 a year.

Through Sport to Nazism

Herr von Tschammer und Osten has also been busy in "liberated" Poland. The nature of his tasks there is indicated by the German radio.

"The principal aim of the re-organised sport movement," it states, "is to make the people realise they are Germans and to transform them into good Nazis."

Drowning Radio Propaganda

The Free German Radio Station reveals a new technique by which its sympathisers are helping to stem the propaganda of the official German wireless.

When Nazi radio bulletins are being broadcast in public places conversation becomes so noisy that nobody can hear what the announcer is saying.

Blacklist of Drunkards

Drunkenness, never a common offence in pre-war Germany, appears now to be on the increase.

Himmler, chief of the Gestapo, has ordered habitual drunkards to be excluded from public-houses. The police are empowered to publish their names in the newspapers as having been excluded.

HEROINE IS READY

Sole Survivor Of 60 In 1917

MABEL LET HIBRIDGE, O.B.E., who, at the age of 17, was the sole survivor of an explosion at a Hayes, Middlesex, munitions factory just 22 years ago, wants to make shells again.

She has offered her services, and is waiting to be called up.

Her experience, in which every one of her 60 companions was killed and she herself was wounded in 47 places, has left her unafraid.

To this day she carries a mark of the explosion—the loss of a leg.

Miss Lethbridge said to a reporter: "My own war slogan is 'We have done it before—we can do it again.' That is why I am ready to enter again the danger zone of any munitions factory."

"In the organisation of a munitions works I believe that older women, like myself, with actual experience of the last war, are essential."

"I would have 20 older women—by that I mean women between the ages of 40 and 60—working with every five of the younger generation."

"I would insist that the older women were thoroughly trained in the handling of explosives and from time to time were given a refresher course in order to keep them up-to-date with the ever-changing modern methods of making munitions."

Her Daughter Too

"Supervisors should be carefully chosen. They must be level-headed women, quick thinkers, possessed of the vigilance that comes only from a real knowledge of explosives."

"Youngsters should not be allowed to carry out the most dangerous forms of munitions work as we were."

"My own daughter, Susie, who will be 17 in July, wants to do munitions work."

"I shall, of course, give my permission, but I sincerely hope she will not have to do the work I was given at her age."

the newspapers as having been excluded.

Bohemed for Treason

Three men were beheaded in Berlin recently for having supplied information to an unnamed "foreign intelligence service." They were Eduard Lasker, 29, and Johann Sroka, 26, both of Beuthen, and Robert Schimpf, 33, of Kehl.

One of their accomplices was executed some time ago, says Reuter's report.

It remained as the maximum punishment, he said, only for murder, mutiny, and treason.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain denied a report of the existence of a secret inner war cabinet.

"My attention has been called to a statement," he said, "to the effect that there is now an inner cabinet composed of the Prime Minister, the Foreign Secretary (Lord Halifax), the Chancellor of the Exchequer (Sir John Simon) and the Lord Privy Seal (Sir Samuel Hoare) whose decisions are withheld from the defence ministers until they come before the war cabinet in the form of recommendations."

HER KNEES SWELLED UP LIKE PUDDINGS

To Go Upstairs was Agony

There is nothing in which rheumatism is a greater handicap than in doing ordinary household duties—kneeling, stooping, running up and down stairs. How to overcome that handicap, and banish rheumatic aches and pains for good, is the subject of the following letter:

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for three months, and am still taking the daily dose. When I started, I had rheumatism in both knees. They were very swollen—just like puddings. I could not rise from a chair without assistance, I could not kneel, and to go upstairs was agony. Now I can run upstairs and kneel as much as I like. My age is 37, I am 5 ft. 10 ins. in height, and weigh 13 stone, so you might guess my legs have a weight to carry. I have just bought another bottle of Kruschen. Since I have taken it, I can work like a horse."—(Mrs.) H.S.

Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts are the most effectual solvents of uric acid known to medical science. Other ingredients of these Salts have a stimulating effect upon the kidneys, and assist them to expel the dissolved uric acid through the natural channel.

Jewish Children In Work Gangs

Polish Jews fleeing from German into Soviet territory tell terrible stories of Nazi tyranny and brutality, according to reports reaching Vilna, now handed over to Lithuania.

In Warsaw, it is stated, Jews of all ages, including women and children, are being stripped of their belongings and drafted into forced labour battalions to clear away the debris caused by bombs.

Cattle trucks filled with Jews from Vienna and Prague are also arriving and their occupants turned loose in the country between Miawa and Plock.

both civil and military, along lines followed in the last war.

Sir John also introduced a resolution in the House to empower the Treasury to borrow up to £250,000,000 for financing the war.

The Chancellor described the resolution as "similar to those given by the War Loans Act passed annually during the last war."

He said discussion of terms for future loans would be against public interest and that "for the purpose of large war borrowing general authority such as the present resolutions confer is desirable."

before the war cabinet in the form of recommendations.

Without Foundation

"The statement is entirely without foundation," Mr. Chamberlain asserted.

[The Prime Minister's statement was taken as not applying to the formally constituted "inner cabinet" which was established early in September. It includes the Prime Minister, Chancellor of the Exchequer, Foreign Secretary, Minister for Co-ordination of Defence, First Lord of the Admiralty, War Secretary, Secretary for Air, Lord Privy Seal and one Minister Without Portfolio.]

Sir John Simon announced the Government would set up a select committee to control expenditures, before the war cabinet in the form of recommendations.

Council of Empire

NO event has been more gratifying to the British public during recent weeks than the spontaneous and loyal manner in which the Dominions and the lesser units of the British Commonwealth have ranged themselves on the side of the Mother Country.

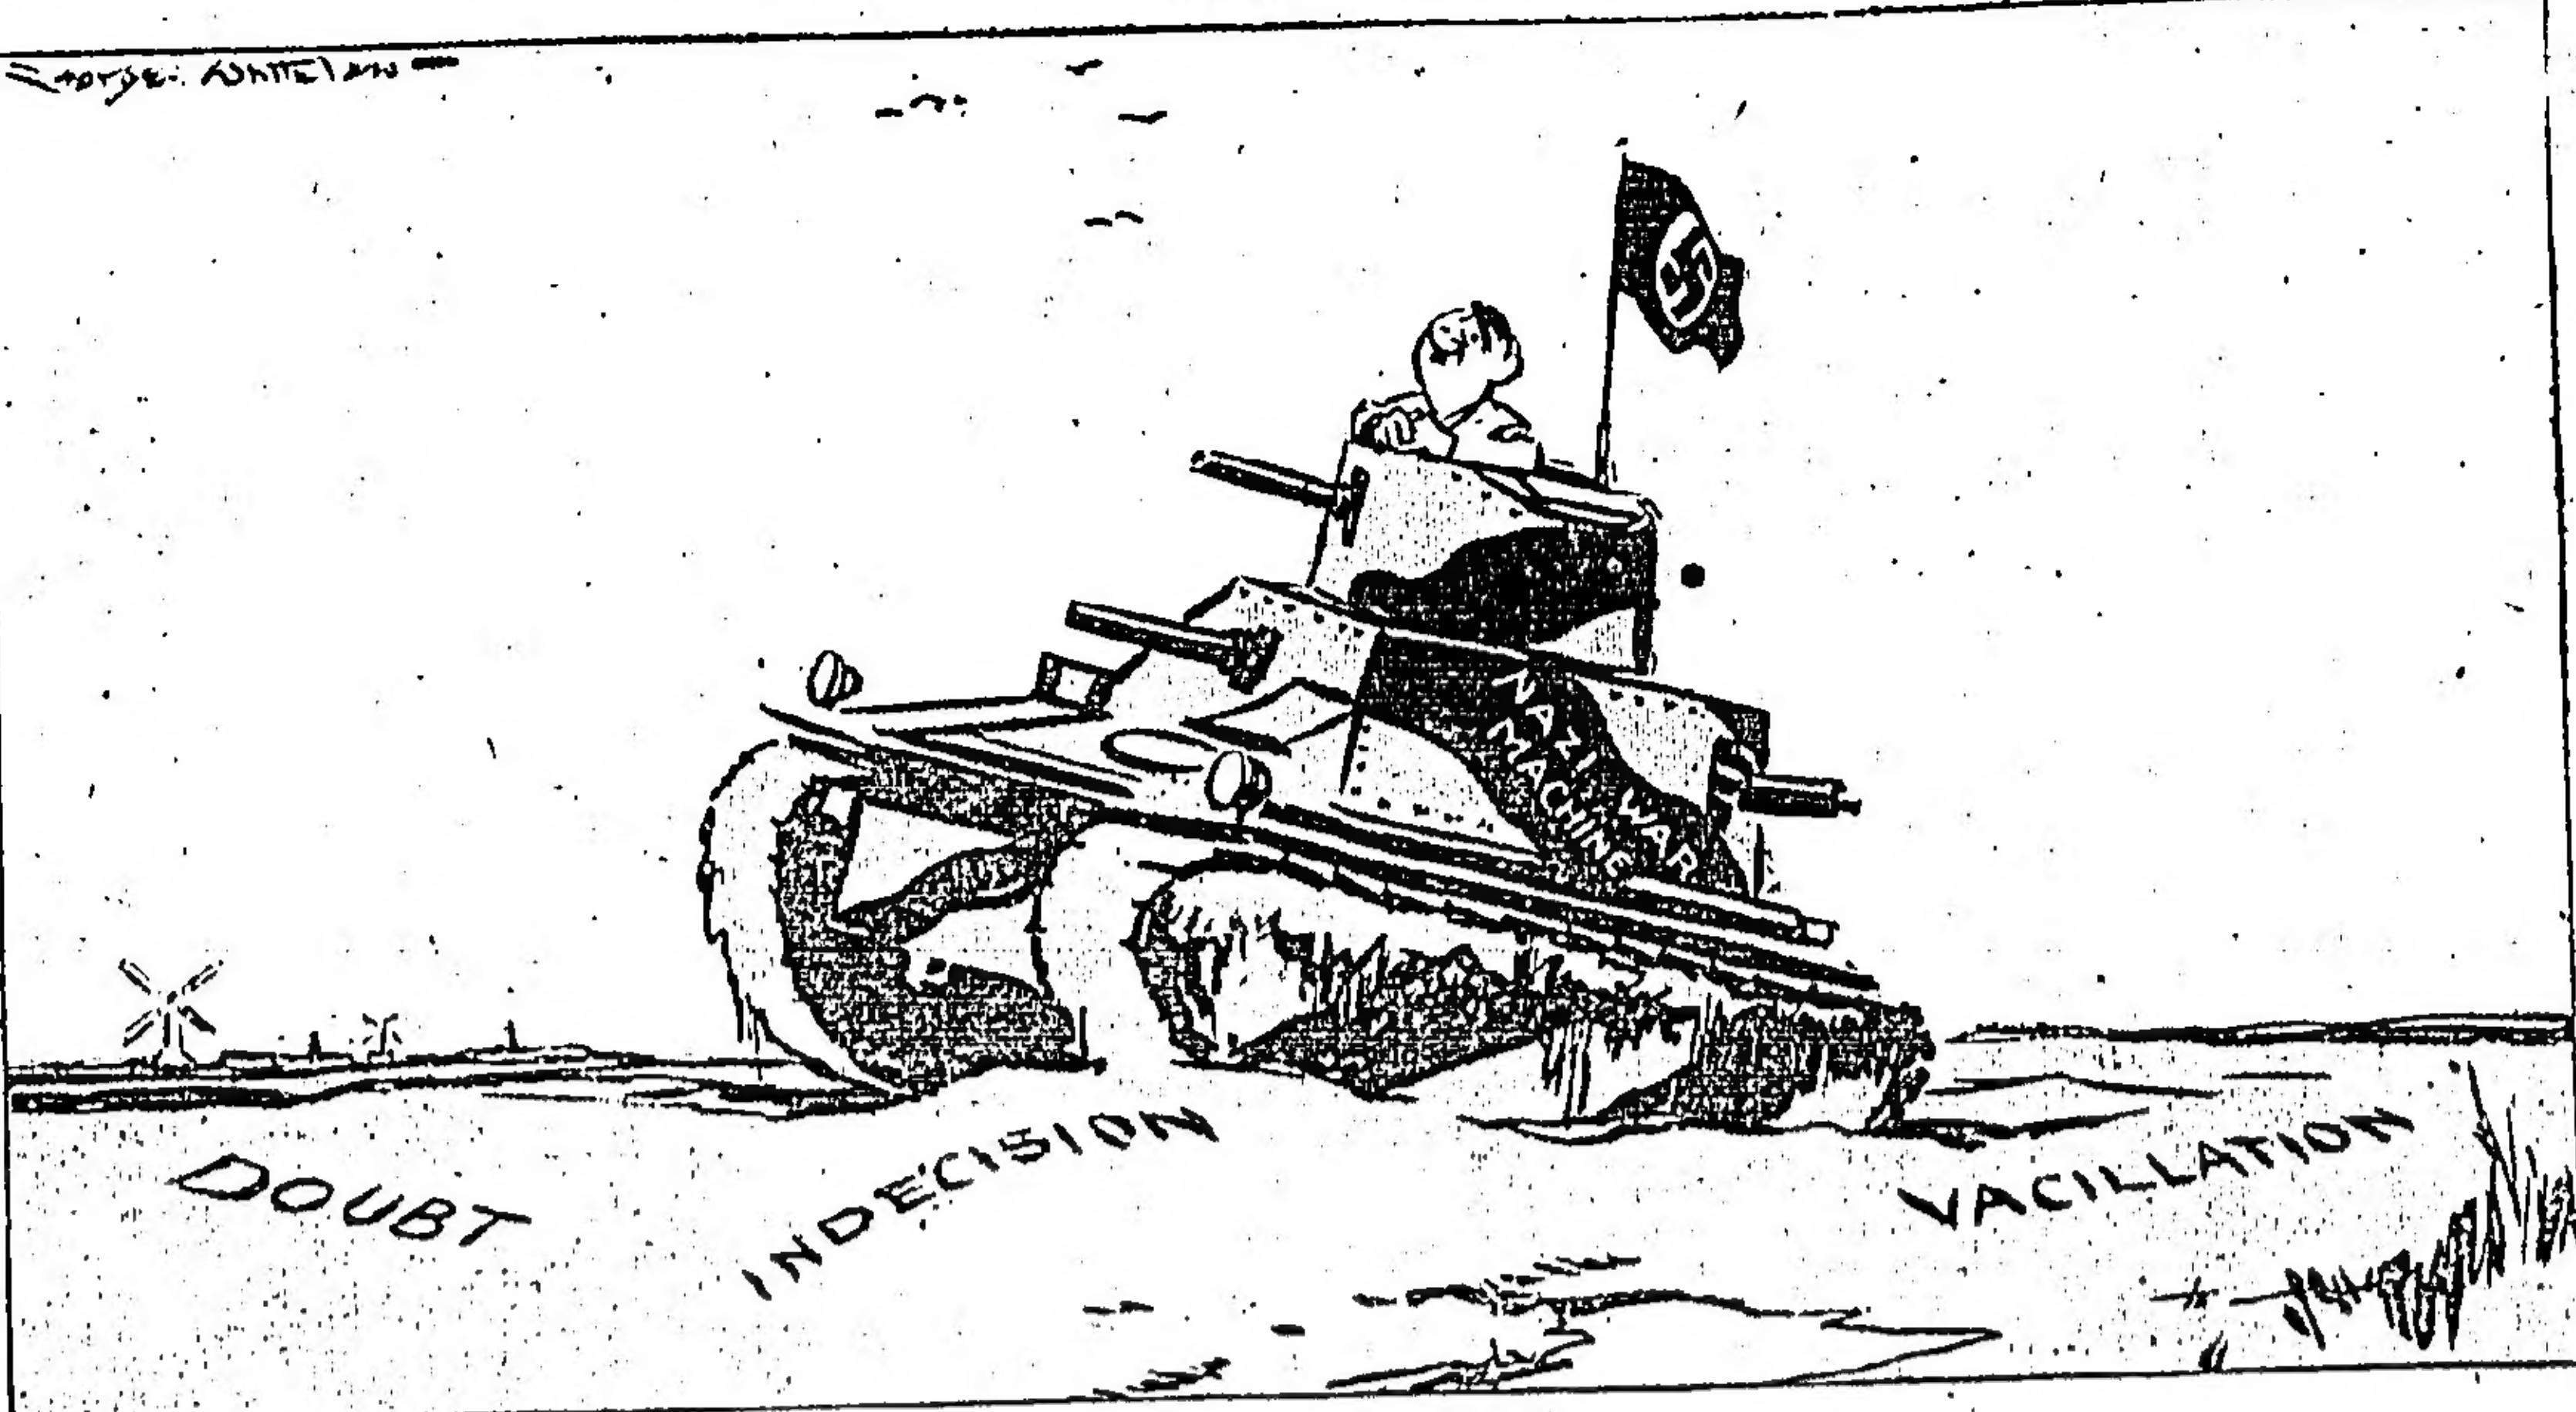

The Dominions, as independent States, had to decide for itself what line it should take. There was in the case of South Africa some hesitancy, but there can be little doubt that General Smuts, when he decided to keep in line with the other Dominions, fulfilled the desire of a large proportion, probably a majority, of the people of the Union.

Now all the Dominions have but one desire and resolve—to contribute to the Allied victory in the manner that is most likely to be effective. This finds expression in the decision, to form in London what may be called Council of Empire, for consultation and co-ordination, on which each Dominion will be represented by a Cabinet Minister.

Great as was the Dominions' contribution to victory in the last war, there can be little doubt that their part will be still more decisive in this war. In a struggle of endurance they may easily turn the scales in Britain's favour. During the past quarter of a century their industrial development has gone steadily ahead. Far from possible interruption by enemy attack, they can make aeroplanes and other war material. And the food supplies they can send us will be invaluable.

If Hitler thought that Britain would not fight he made a great mistake. If he assumed that, even if we did take up arms, the other members of the British Empire would hold aloof, he made a still more serious miscalculation, as time is certain to prove.

NAZIS' BIG hot air BLUFF

by WILLI FRISCHAUER

REALLY there are two German air-forces. One has been "built up" by Goebbels and has been used to frighten small States into surrender, and to threaten the British people with Blitzkrieg from the air.

What of the other, the real Nazi air force, which Goering described as "colossal," "terrible" and "unparalleled in the history of aviation"?

Since the Nazis came into power aircraft production was steadily increased until, at the beginning of 1939, the strength of the Nazi air force was estimated at about 300 squadrons of nine planes each, with an average of five reserve planes for each squadron.

Approximately half are bombers—experts speak of 170 bomber squadrons.

REliable information shows that there were 50 aircraft factories in Germany before the war. In these factories 200,000 people, a third of them women, were employed, working between 52 and 60 hours per week.

An official German source admitted in 1938 that the monthly output of production was 800 planes, a figure which could be increased by one-third in war time. The foundation of this production was laid in Russia around 1923, when Germany was still under the restrictions of the Versailles Treaty, and not allowed to produce war planes at home.

German engineers travelled secretly to Russia, taking with them German designs for modern aircraft. Soon experimental production was started and intensified. Finally, Germany's biggest aircraft producers, Junkers, established a branch on Russian soil.

Then underground factories were established in Germany, where secret air rearmament went on and to-day Junkers, with headquarters in Dessau, near Berlin, has factories in Breslau, Kothen, Leipzig and Magdeburg. Messerschmitt, Heinkel and Dornier are the firm's chief competitors.

BUT output is not the most vital factor in air efficiency.

Even before the war the boosted Messerschmitt was viewed with distrust by foreign experts. Their suspicions were increased when Switzerland tested five machines and, contrary to expectation, did not place a large order with the German firm.

The Swiss test-flights had proved the Messerschmitt fast and effective. But the material of the plane did not stand the strain and all five Messerschmitts returned from the tests ready—for repairs.

It is unlikely that Germany, under the stranglehold of the British blockade and lacking most of the raw materials essential for aircraft production, is now able to produce better machines.

Even if she could it would make Goering's air-force just half as formidable as he claims it to be.

A STUDY of German newspapers during the last two months also shows the difficulties of production. Junkers, Heinkel, Messerschmitt, BMW, and Gema are badly in need of skilled labour. Their advertisements, inviting applications for jobs, are prominently displayed in every Nazi newspaper.

They cannot get the men. They cannot get first-class material. And they try to meet these deficiencies with unskilled labour and inferior material. In air battles between British and German planes British aircraft has proved superior. What such an experience means for the morale of the Nazi flying corps is obvious.

There is no doubt that German technical ingenuity has produced some highly efficient aircraft models, but when it comes to mass production this genius is wasted and the result inferior.

British airmen are most likely to encounter in their combats the Messerschmitt 109, provided five a-day by Bayrische Flugzeug Werke in Augsburg. It carries four machine guns.

A fighter said to be capable of 350 m.p.h. it is an excellent model. The quality of the material is excused by the Nazis with their theory that fighter's life is war time is not longer than 30 days.

Lighter in weight, but even more efficient, is the Heinkel 112, produced at Germany's best equipped aircraft factory in Oranienburg.

Like many other German factories, Oranienburg has a duplicate equipment underground. The Heinkel mounts six 200lb. bombs, in addition to its four machine guns.

There is also the Flying Pencil, as the Dornier 17 model is called, a long, slim and elegant bomber equipped with guns, machine-guns and heavy bombs. Its range is 1,500 miles.

The Henschel plane is chiefly used for reconnaissance work. Junkers, Blohm and Voss provide most of the other models. Dornier and Arado also produce large airships and waterplanes.

IT is strange that the man who has done most to build up the German Air Force for his Nazi leader should be of Jewish blood.

He is Erhardt Milch, a former chemist and close friend of Goering.

An Aryan was substituted for his father, who has Jewish blood in his veins, and the Aryans General Milch is to-day the greatest figure in German aviation—except Goering.

But the intensity of the Nazi propaganda and the underground organization that was carried on cut down opposition.

The Nazis also collected every available German—even those in U.S.—who was entitled to a vote. By this they added over 10 per cent. to those qualified to vote.

The fact that the Roman Catholic bishops advised the people to vote and helped to give Hitler his majority.

So Hitler had no trouble in winning this, his first fight for "one people, one State, one leader." It was the beginning of his country-collecting habit which has landed him, and us, in war.

The Saar, near the north of the present western front, is about the size of the free city of Danzig.

From 1920 to 1935 the League of Nations was trustee of the Saar, so that the French could take the coal as compensation for the war damage done to their own mines.

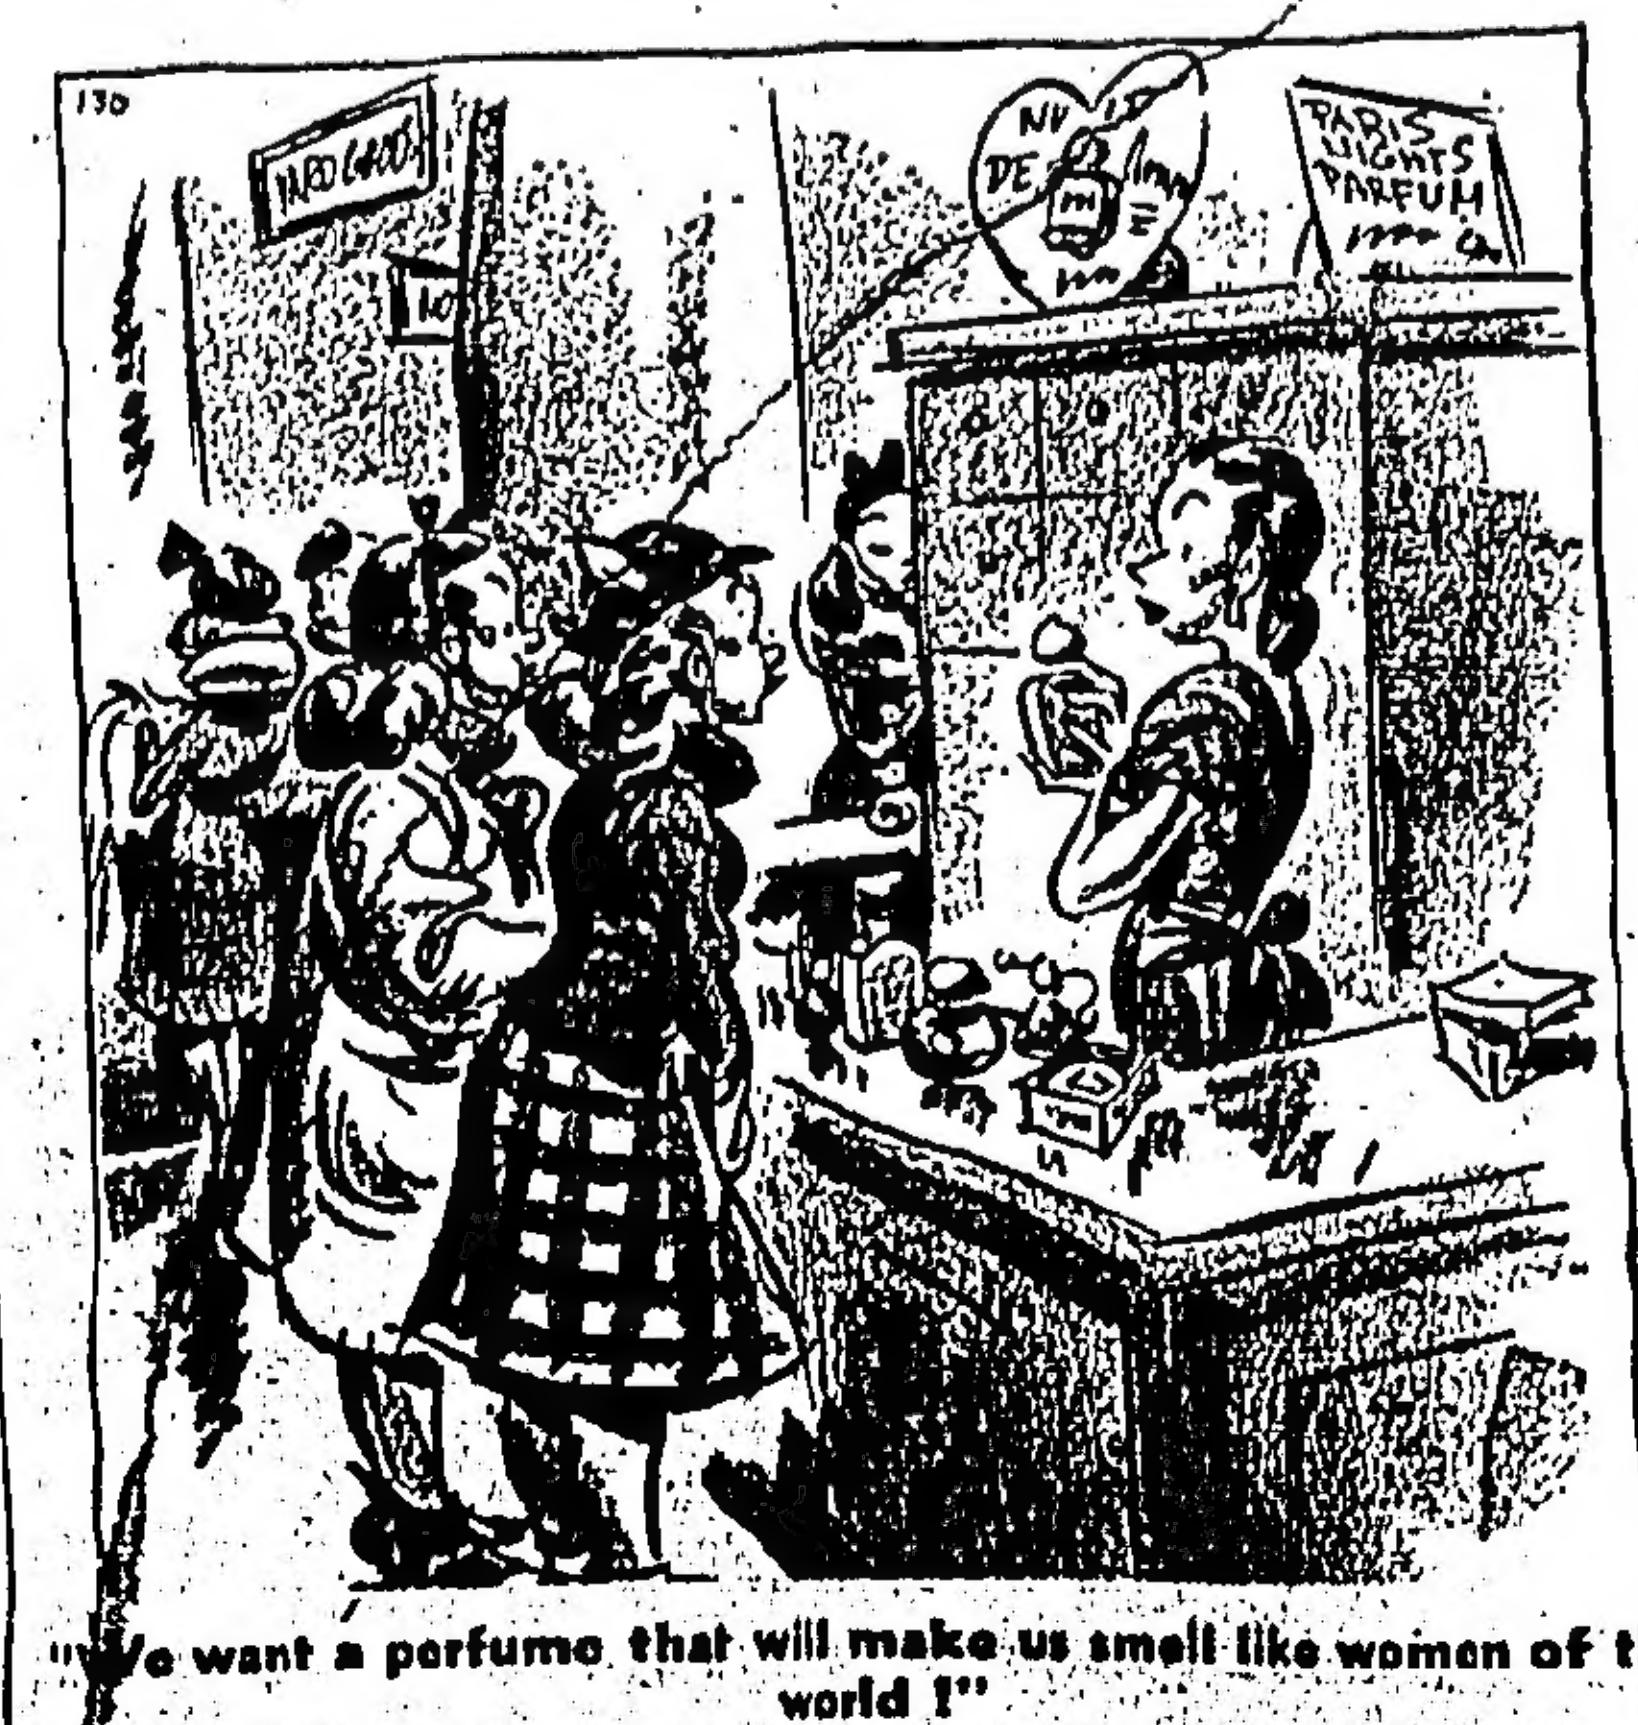

There was a Saar flag (black, white and blue) and Saar postage stamps.

The Saar is one of the most productive industrial areas in the world. That is one of the reasons why the French attack is concentrated on it. It produces about a tenth of Germany's coal and steel, a fifth of her pig-iron and steel.

Cheerfulness comes from Strong Nerves and Restorative Sleep

The two essentials for maintaining a cheerful and confident outlook on life are strong nerves and restorative sleep. To ensure these, there is definitely nothing like 'Ovaltine'.

The pre-eminence of 'Ovaltine' for strengthening the nervous system and giving restorative sleep has been amply demonstrated by independent scientific tests. It would be impossible to claim superiority over 'Ovaltine' in any respect whatever.

The nature and quality of the ingredients and the proportions used are of the utmost importance in determining the value of a food beverage. The ingredients of 'Ovaltine' conform to the supremely high standard of quality set by the famous 'Ovaltine' Farms.

Remember that 'Ovaltine' is a complete food containing the essential vitamins, proteins, carbohydrates and mineral salts in correct proportions. For sleep, for nerves, for fitness 'Ovaltine' definitely stands in a class by itself. Although imitations are made to look the same, there are very important differences.

KRUPPS TO GRAB YUGOSLAVIAN IRON ORE MINES

Krupps, the great German armament firm, will shortly have a controlling interest in a number of Yugoslavian iron ore mines. This is Hitler's latest trade success.

There are several under-developed mines in Bosnia. Krupps are to "provide" the capital to develop them. But this capital will be part of the money which Germany has at last forced Yugoslavia to provide in repayment of loans granted by Germany to Bosnia and Serbia in 1895, before Yugoslavia existed.

These repayments will not leave Yugoslavia, but will remain in banks there and be spent by Krupps within the country. Krupps will then take the products of the investments.

This follows quickly on the news that Krupps have floated a loan of 40 million marks to enlarge their works in Germany. The Nazis anticipate that present and future deals will enable them to obtain enough iron and steel to justify the development.

Mussolini is incensed by rumours which Ribbentrop is causing to be spread about a change in Italian policy.

The Nazis are trying by propaganda to suggest that Britain's blockade will force Italy into the war. The Duce has given orders for this to be counteracted.

The Soviet is continually emphasising to Germany that she cannot expect too much from the trade deal. Latest to join the chorus is M. Saculine, Director of Soviet Statistics.

In an inspired statement given to neutrals—and German representatives—he states that the present increase in Russian production does not mean that there will be any extra surplus to export. Instructions have been given that the statement is to be published in the Soviet Press.

Herr Thyssen, German millionaire industrialist who fled to Switzerland, has received threats from Nazi agents. He has been told that if he "talks" his life will be in danger.

Tribunal Member's Protest Cheered

MEMBERS of the public cheered Mr. A. B. Swales, the retired trade union official, when he protested against questions put by a fellow-member of the London Conscientious Objectors' Tribunal.

Ernest Maxwell Brough, of Chiswick, W., had told the tribunal that he objected to killing or being killed.

Mr. Swales contended that questions put to Brough were irrelevant.

"I would not be doing my duty if I did not protest," he declared.

Oh Dear, Oh Dear!

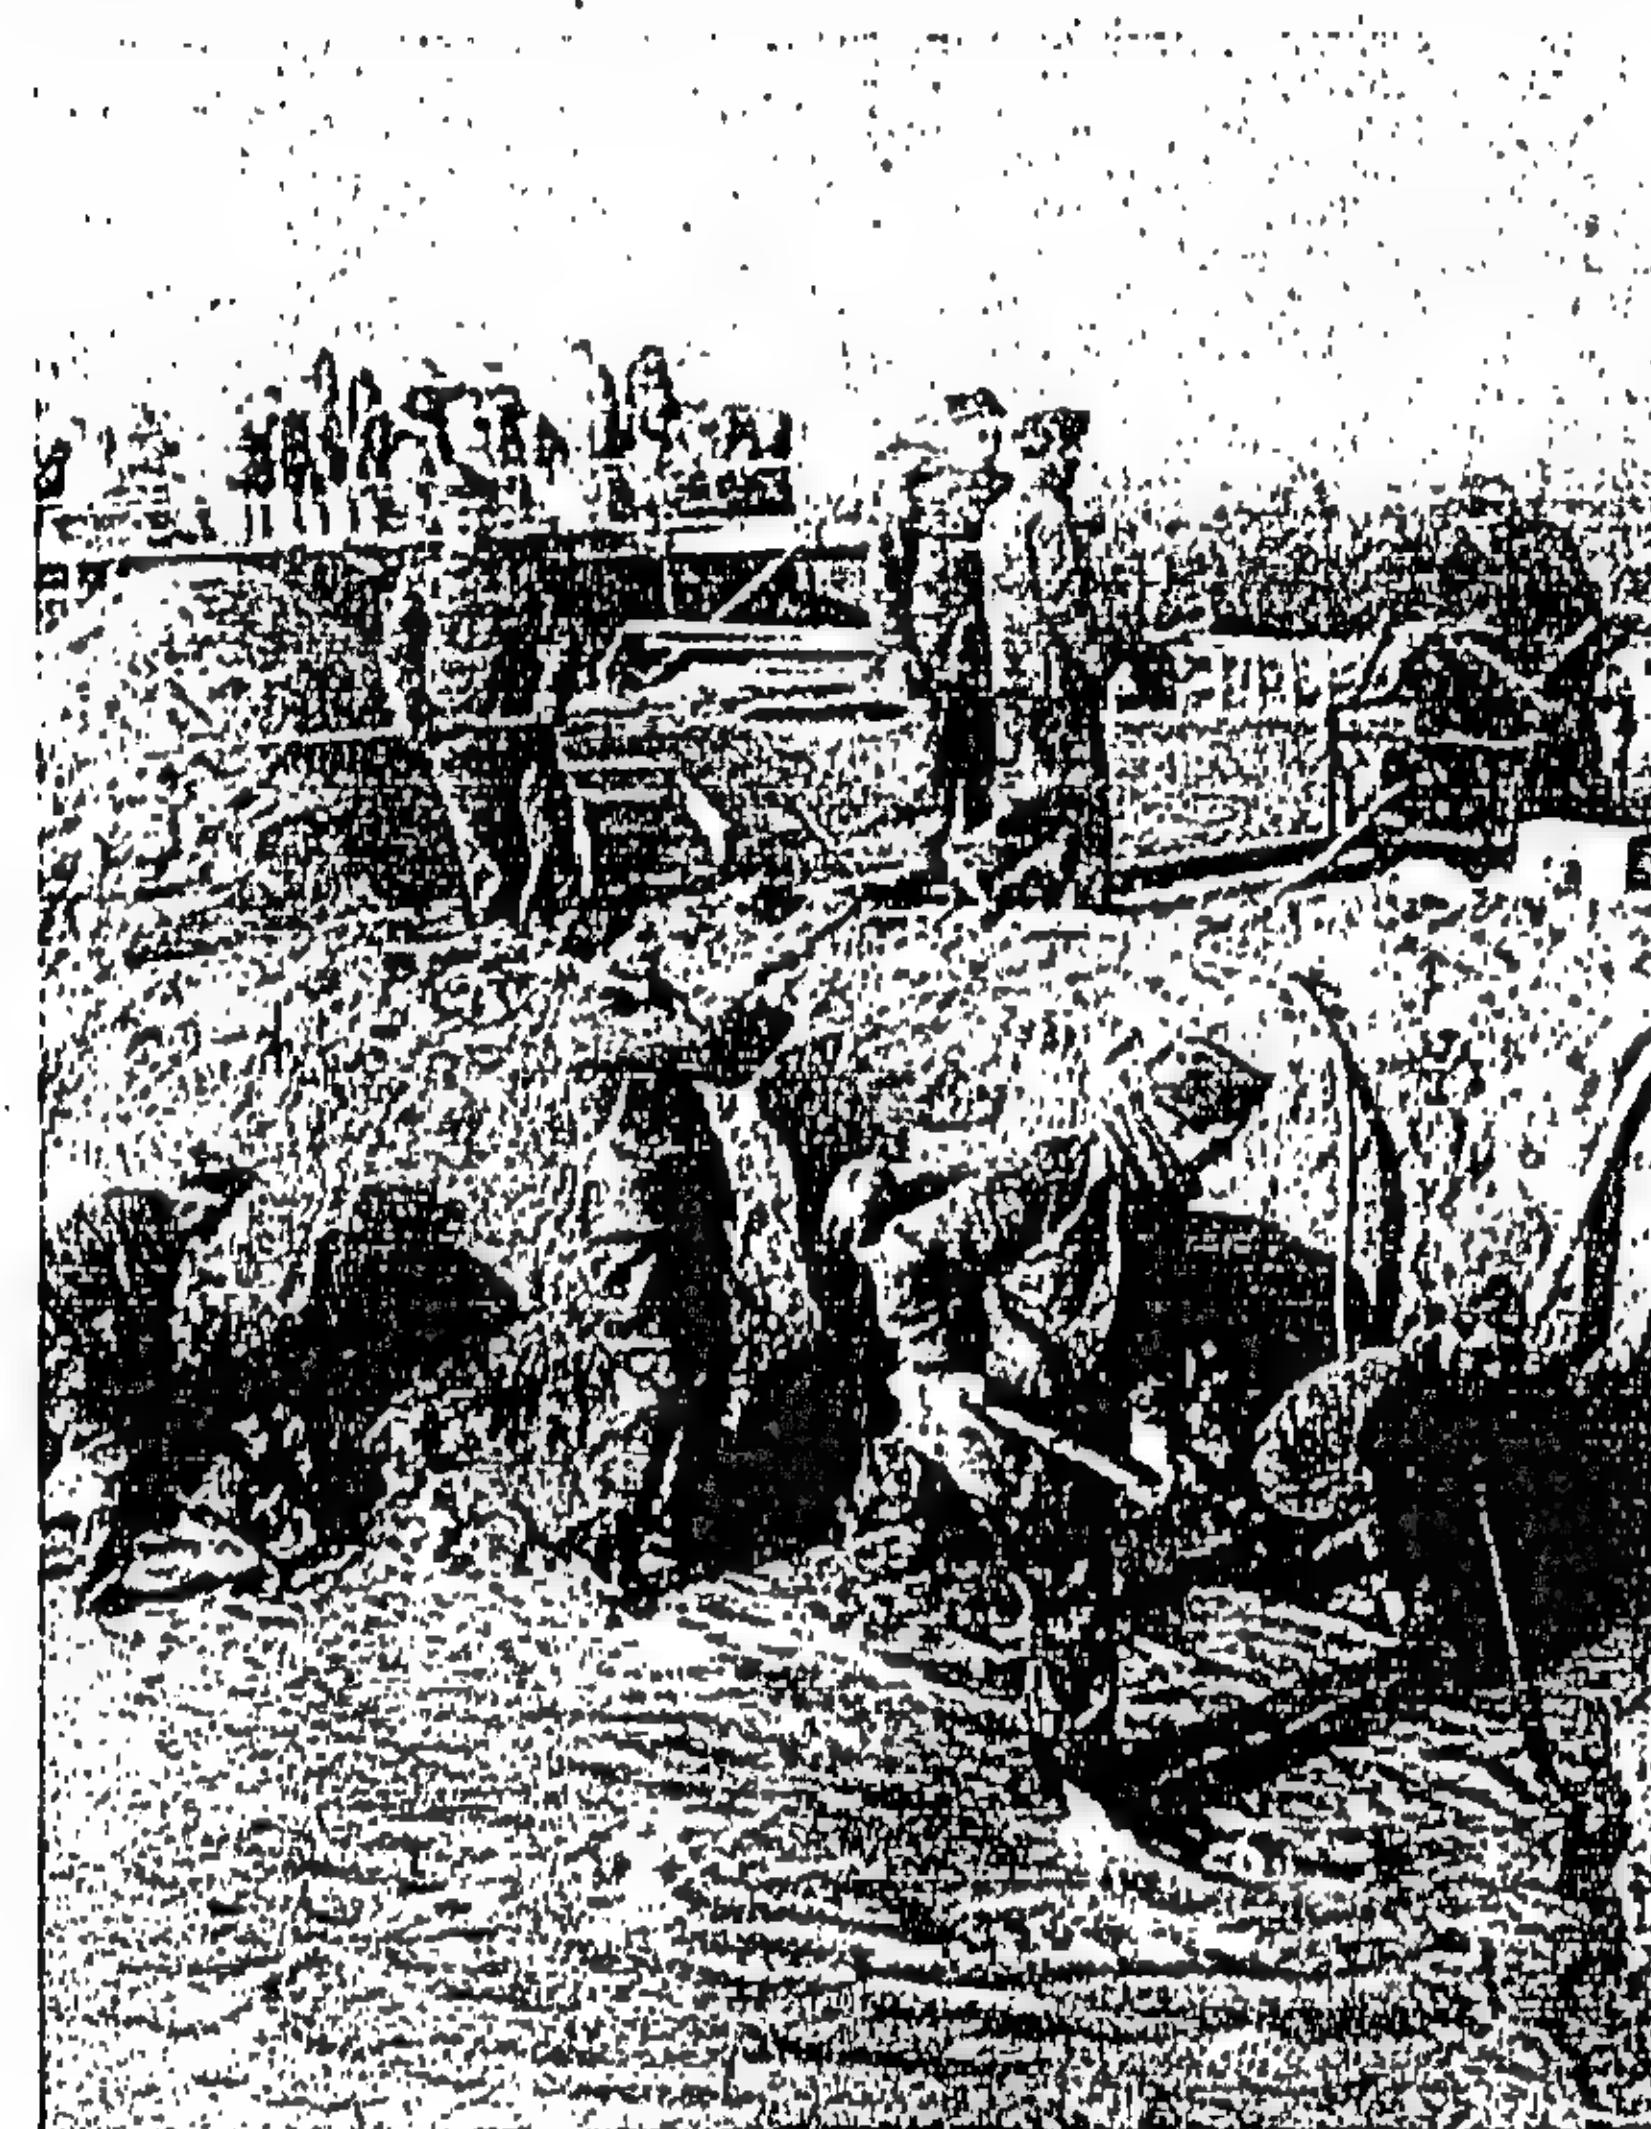

"GERMANY will win through all right, whether the war is long or short. "I think Germany is going to give Britain and France some tremendous surprise within the next few weeks."

Who said that? Gen. Quelpo de Llano, the Spanish Nationalists' "radio general."

P.S.—De Llano was relieved of his command in Spain last July. He is now in Rome.

"Muddy Waters Round My Feet"

And you could not have blamed these Tommies "Somewhere in France" if they had sung the old popular song while they were on this fatigued. This photograph shows members of the B.E.F. preparing trenches under sticky conditions in case Hitler's hordes should take into their heads to be foolish enough to attack.

"FREEDOM" RADIO DEFY GESTAPO

THE Gestapo have been foiled in their attempts to track down the German Freedom radio station, who, according to the announcer have moved their headquarters to another district of Western Germany.

The announcer said: "We shall probably let our listeners know later in which German towns we are operating.

"Many discussions have shown us that our propaganda has fallen on fertile soil among the armament workers of Western Germany."

Death For Sedition

General Keitel, Chief of the Supreme Command of the German Armed Forces, has issued a decree imposing the death penalty under military law for:

- (1) Attempting to undermine the soldiers' morale;
- (2) Desertion;
- (3) Looting.

In the case of less serious attempts to undermine military morale the sentence may be reduced to 15 years' life imprisonment.

Condemned Mother

The wife of a workman at Krefeld, in the west of Germany, unable to get any food for supper, returned home and, in her anger, said Herr Hitler was responsible for the food shortage.

Her son left the flat immediately. He returned with some S.S. men, who arrested her. Next day she was sentenced to five months' imprisonment.

The incident was given in a broadcast to Austrians abroad over the French radio.

Book Purge

Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, the Nazi cultural leader, has been ordered to conduct a purge of Nazi literature to see what should be thrown out and what should be kept.

Milk "Feast Day"

Germans had an egg, milk, and chocolate "Feast Day" to celebrate the National Socialism anniversary.

HITLER'S NEW WORRY

GERMAN working people are suffering from a terror psychosis. This has been caused by the feeling of being continuously watched by the Gestapo.

The report, given in the Zurich newspaper Volkswacht, comes from Berlin.

The spy psychosis is becoming so severe that all are now keeping a close watch on what they say.

Despair and a feeling of absolute powerlessness is creating an atmosphere of fatalism.

But when friends get together and are sure that no one is eaves-dropping they give vent to their fury against the Nazis.

Stuttgart radio pointed out that the festivities were more modest this year as there was not the mood for festivities in Germany at the moment.

But, it was added, there were "special rations" of eggs, milk, and chocolate.

Confiscated

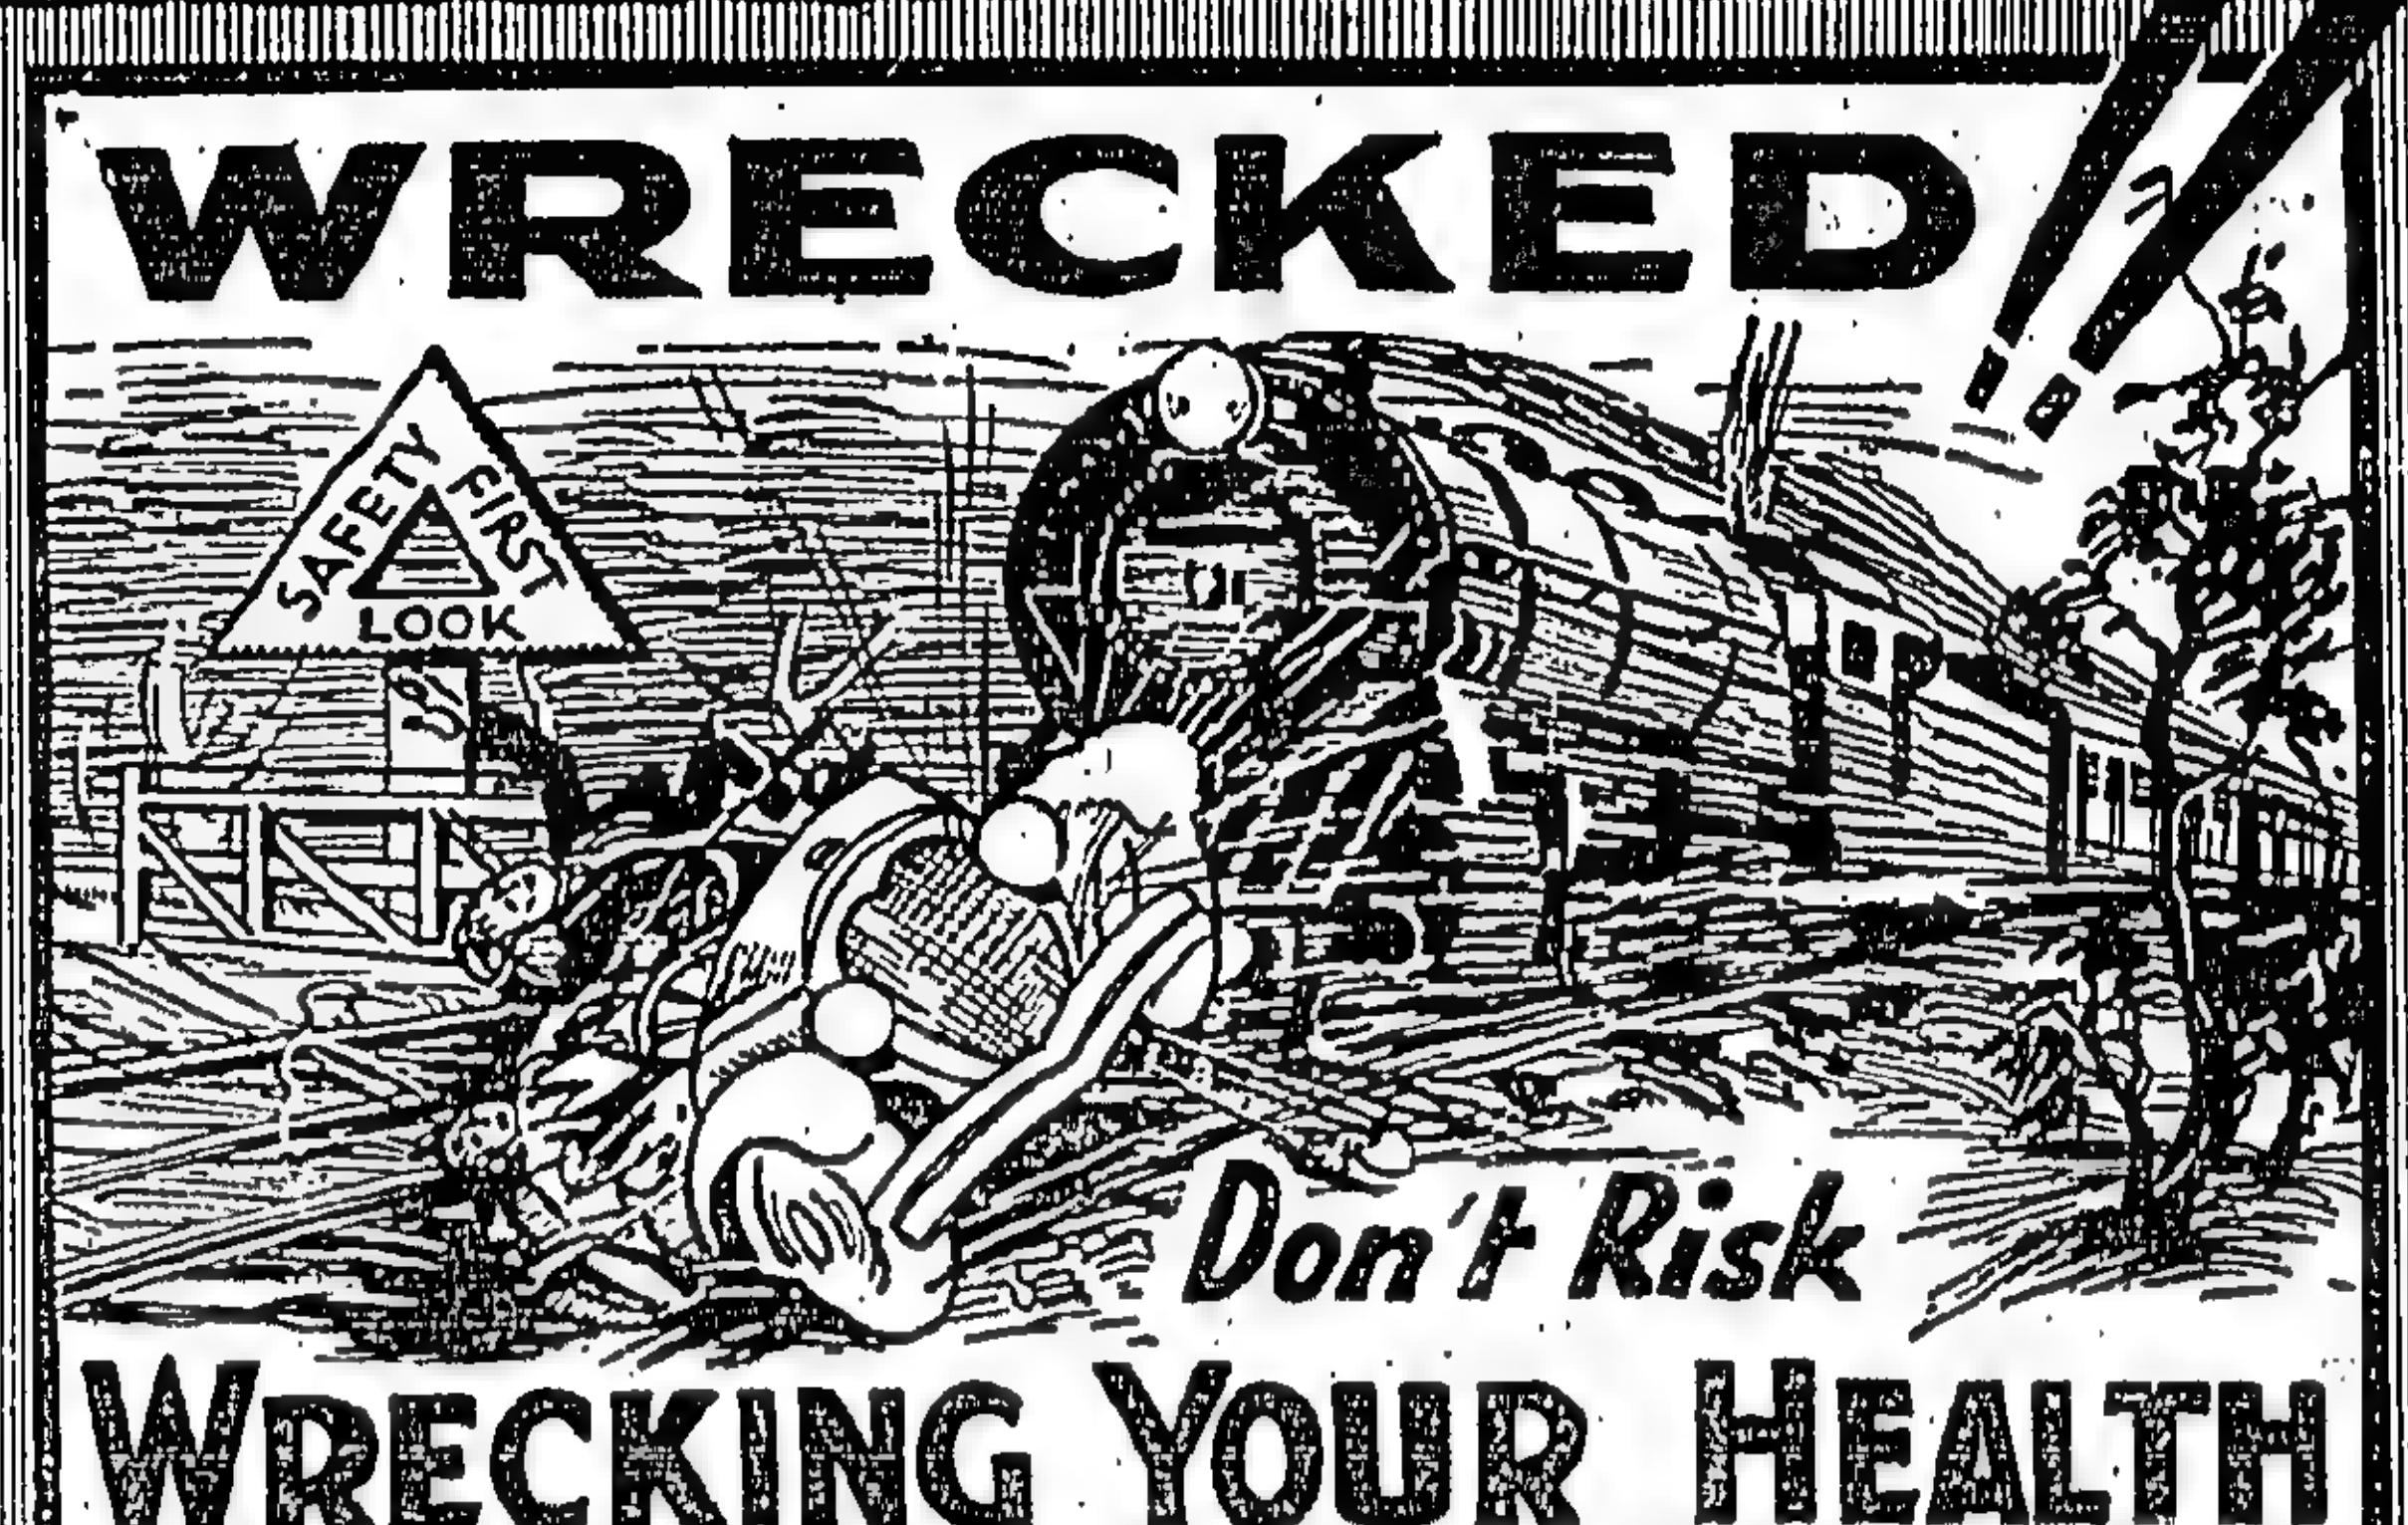

The Schwarze Korps, organ of the S.S. Black Guards, has been confiscated by the German military authorities owing to an article on the effectiveness of the Allied blockade of Germany.

The article is said to have caused some anxiety among the German population.

Poles Threatened

Polish are obstructing the Germans in every possible way in the government of their country, according to the French radio.

So serious have affairs become that Centauro flying squad are touring Poland and many threats have been made.

When Headaches, Pain, Colds, Flu or numerous other minor ailments attack you, you need quick and speedy relief. Don't take chances. Play safe with medicine. CATHOLIC SOCIETY

With their finances sound and membership satisfactory, St. Teresa's C.Y.M.S. reported a good year's work at the annual meeting held last night. President were Mr. N. E. Allaye, President, the Rev. Fr. A. Granelli, Spiritual Director, Mr. L. A. Barton, Hon. President, and Mr. Peter Y. T. Lo, Hon. Secretary.

Mr. Lo said the year under review had been one of varied activities. Under the guidance of Fr. Granelli meetings had been held to learn in greater detail Catholic doctrines and Apologetics. Lectures were also delivered by members and visitors. There was an instructive debate on Communism.

On February 24, the Society organised a meeting of all Catholic Action Associations in memory of Pope Pius XI, who died on February 10. From August 5 to August 7 there was a spiritual retreat held for the young men parishioners of St. Teresa's Church, at La Salle College, conducted by Fr. Granelli.

The Society also held recreational and social activities, including an excursion to Macao. In June, the Society organised a pilgrimage to Wong Ngau Tin, New Territories, on the occasion of the opening of the Church of Our Lady of the Rosary. In the same month 400 people attended a cinema depicting the life of St. Anthony of Padua.

There was Christmas Eve party. The most distinctive work of charity was the help given to swell the funds of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul during the bazaar held in November. Two stalls of the St. Teresa's Society raised over $1,200. On Christmas Eve members paid a visit to the Ol Taik School at Kowloon Tsai and distributed presents to the 70 poor children maintained by St. Vincent de Paul.

A badminton team was entered in the 1939-40 league and was doing well.

Fr. Granelli expressed gratitude to Mr. Allaye and Mr. Lo and suggested the starting of the "Aspirants" for boys from 13 years of age to 16. After 16, the boys could join the main Society.

Red Riding Hood

—New Style

1328

Hooded coat in copper and green tweed. Plum colored wool makes the full-skirted frock.

IT is the turn of the business girl this week, and I have planned for her an easy-to-make everyday outfit. Travelling to work is a chilly affair during the winter months, but the new hooded coats are going to nip in the bud many a cold in the head.

Every dress collection this season has had its pet models of this really practical fashion, and they look most effective in the new blanket tweeds, either in plaid or plaid colours.

No. 1327 is particularly easy to put together, as there are only seven pieces in the pattern. Cut raglan style with two pockets, the hood will ensure that curly head remain unruffled while out of doors, and it can be freely slipped back when you are in the cinema.

Gathered Waist

The full skirt in No. 1328 is as popular as ever, and in the style sketched both front and back are cut in one piece from shoulder to hem, and the fullness at waist is held in by a fairly wide belt.

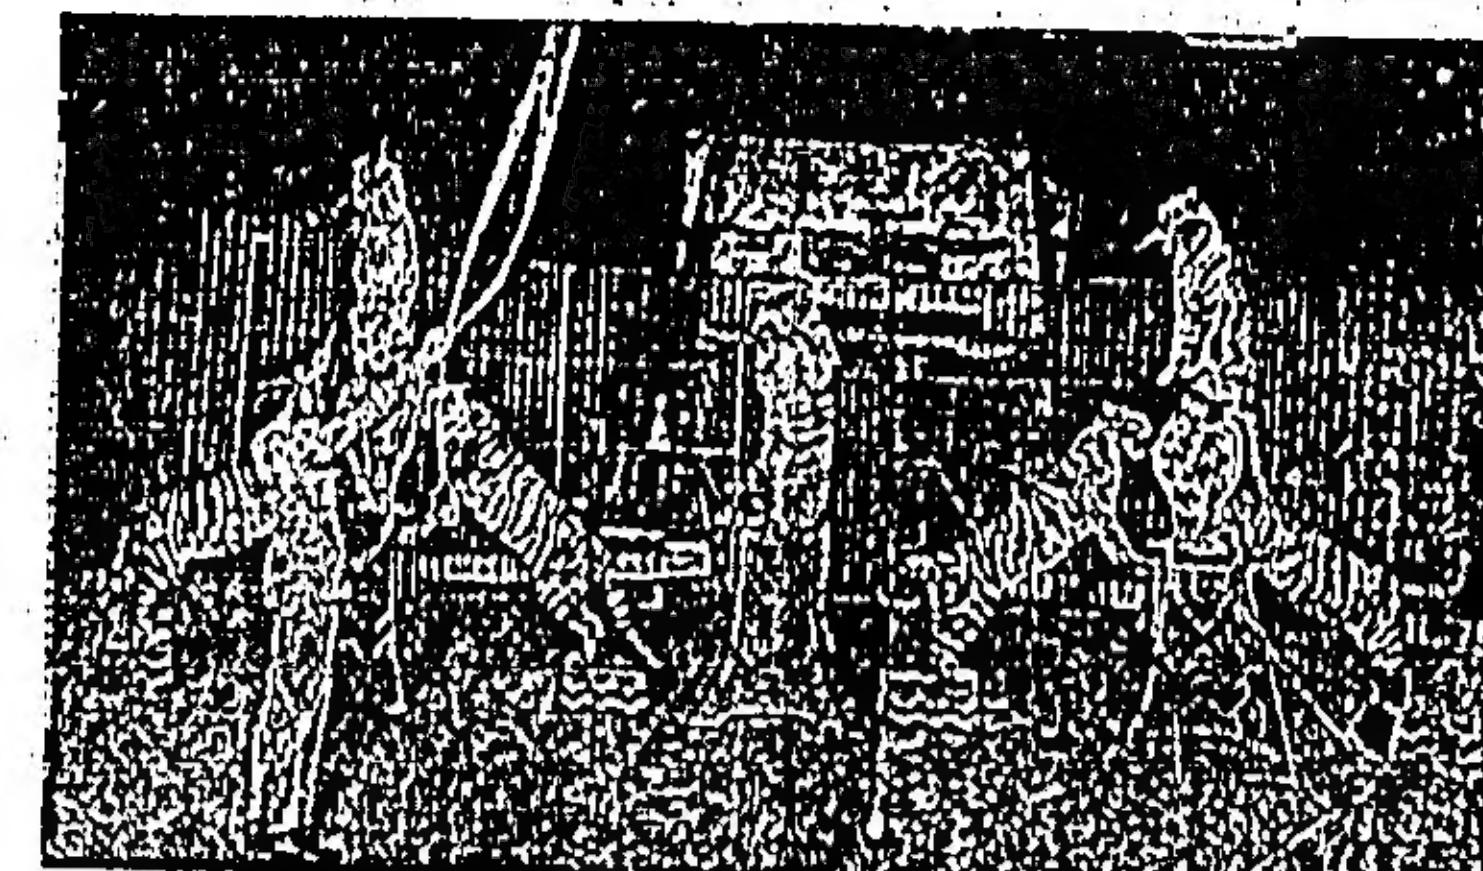

If you buy one of the finer dress wool fabrics you will find that you can have a defined waist by using the special elastic for that purpose if you prefer.

A narrow fold outlines the neck, giving a light relief near the face that is most becoming.

D.F.C. for all Ranks?

THE Distinguished Flying Cross, at present awarded to officers and warrant officers only, may be awarded to all ranks in the Royal Air Force. Sir Kingsley Wood, Air Minister, told M.P.s he was considering the suggestion. At present N.C.O.s and men get the Distinguished Flying Medal.

LESSON SERMON

First Church of Christ,
Scientist, Hongkong

SURJECT—GOD

The subject of the Lesson Sermon on all Christian Science Churches to-morrow,
January 7, will be—"God."

The Golden Text is:—"We shall know the God who is in the midst of Israel, and that I am the Lord your God, and none else." (Exodus 33:14.)

Among other things, the following citations will be read from the Bible, and Moses will be quoted from the Book of Exodus, when I come unto the children of Israel, and shall say unto them, The God of your fathers hath not sent me to you. Ask then, who sent me?—what is my name?—what is my name?—what shall I say unto them? And God said unto Moses, Thus shall thou say unto the children of Israel, I am that I am, and that I have sent me unto you. (Exodus 3:12, 14.)

The following citations will also be read from the Christian Science Textbook, and also with reference to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy,
"AM. God," Incorporated and eternal Mind, divine Principle, the only Ego, the only entity, the only Soul, nor comprised within the narrow limits of physical humanity, nor can it be conceived. A finite and material concept leads to formalism and narrowness; it limits the spirit of Christianity." (Pages 800, 230.)

WORK

Dr. Robert Lim Guest
Of Women's Club

The difficulty of transportation now that the highways have been destroyed, and the urgent need for ambulances, spare parts and gasoline, were emphasized by Dr. Robert S.
K. Lim, Director of the Chinese Red Cross Society, at a dinner given in his honour by the Hongkong Chinese Women's Club, at the Chinese Merchant's Club last night.

At the official table were Dr. Eva Hsung, Dr. C. Y. Wu, director of the Chinese Red Cross, Mr. and Mrs.
T. F. Lo, directors of the Women's Club, Mrs. Li Shu-fan, vice-president of the club, Dr. and Mrs. Li Shu-pui, and Mr. and Mrs. Y. K. Chow. About seventy members and friends attended.

After dinner Dr. Lim gave a talk on the work being done by the Red Cross in the war areas, and illustrated his address with lantern slides.

Dr. Lim introduced Dr. Lim and said:

"Our President, Mrs. M. K. Lo, has asked me to express her deep regrets for not being able to be present to welcome our guest of honour.

"Dr. Li was a stranger to Hongkong when he arrived in China since the beginning of the war are nowhere more complicated than among the refugees and philanthropists in that Colony.

Dr. Lim outlined the work of the medical units in China and gave some idea of the difficulties they have to surmount. There are, he said, medical units of various kinds, about 60 in all, stretching along the North-West to the South-West zones.

It was hoped eventually to supply each military division in the field with a medical unit. The army has at present poor equipment and artillery and is poor in medical personnel and equipment. The Red Cross is rendering considerable technical help.

There is, however, an urgent need for qualified doctors and trained male nurses. Most of the divisions have no doctors. Last year this was not quite such a vital matter as it is to day.

Then it was merely a matter of carrying the wounded some 20 kilometres by stretchers to base hospitals. Now, however, the defense policy of the army has been changed. It has been found that by tearing up the highways the Japanese advance is checked. This also prevents the refugees from moving up and has created serious difficulties for the medical units. It now takes seven or eight days to transport the wounded by stretchers. In time it is hoped an army of stretcher bearers will be created to simplify the work.

CHINESE PAINTINGS

Old Masters On View
At University

On Wednesday from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. there will be an exhibition of ancient Chinese paintings at the Fung Ping Shan Library of the University, under the joint auspices of the Association for the Advancement of Chinese Culture, the Chinese American Institute of Cultural Relations and the Sino-British Cultural Association.

There will be some 25 carefully chosen pictures, all masterpieces of the Ming and the early Tsing Dynasty. They form part of the valuable collection of Mr. Wong Tsz-ching, a well-known Cantonese art collector and connoisseur, who happens to be in this colony owing to the Sino-Japanese War.

The organizers of this exhibition have in view the continuation of their efforts along similar lines, and periodical presentations are contemplated. By pooling the efforts of the three cultural associations it is also expected that much overlapping and duplicate work will be avoided in this common field of their activities, while making it possible to have a better and more comprehensive programme.

The exhibition will be open to all the members of three associations and friends.

STOCK MARKET REPORT

Hongkong Stock Exchange Weekly report issued yesterday says:

The steadiness with which operations were resumed on the market after the New Year's holidays has been well maintained. Docks continue the centre of attraction and have been the medium of an extensive turnover. At one time yesterday they gave the impression that saturation point had been reached. This, however, was a momentary phase and the demand was soon renewed and still unsatisfied. Hongkong Banks & Unions are eagerly sought after and although buyers' strength increased their bids, scrip in both cases, is particularly scarce. Whilst the remainder of the market does not call for any particular remark, it may be stated there is evidence that interest throughout the list has broadened, and the closing tone is firm, with possibilities of higher levels all round.

Italy To Enforce Rationing System

ROME, Jan. 6 (Dome)—The Italian Government announced to-day that distribution of food tickets will be started on January 15.

The announcement says that the rationing system will not be put into practice immediately and that the distribution of tickets is a precautionary measure.

Completely banned in the past, the sale of coffee will be permitted under the rationing system as from February 1.

The steps are understood to aim at tightening Italian wartime preparations.

Nazis Again Fly Over Belgium

BRUSSELS, Jan. 6 (Reuter)—Belgium has yet again protested to Berlin against the violation of her frontiers by Nazi planes.

The planes came over on Thursday at a great height and were met with flak. The planes made off when Dutch planes went up.
